

MILLINERY OPENINGS COMMANDER PEARY

Grand Display of New Styles, New Is Anxious to Get Back to Tints and Shapes in Hats Eagle Island

The Bon Marche Dry Goods store was the scene of the most beautiful display of fall millinery yesterday afternoon and evening. The main show windows were filled with the choicest possible lines of millinery that have been seen in the city for years.

In the millinery department two living models from a leading house have been engaged to adorn their heads with these beautiful creations of the milliner's art.

A feature of this fall millinery is the use of heavier hats and heavier cloth draped frames, indicating that the coming season is to be one in which the heavier materials will predominate, although many shapes and combinations are pronounced.

Colors, black and black with dull gold, taupe with silver, olive green and a metallic blue, prune shades and the beautiful range of amethyst, also mustard and acroprene blue seem to be certain of success.

Among the new shapes are the Russian Turbans, Acroprene, Continental and many others.

Among the attractive novelties in fancy feathers are the willow plumes, ostrich and Paradise egrettes, also fancy wings and fringed quills. The whip agrette is one of the most popular forms of the "fanchies" of the season.

Scintillating jet ornaments are shown in coronas, buckles and beads. Huge cabochons in gray and the bronze shades vie with black in popularity.

Among our beautiful models, we desire to mention three from Paris: The exquisite Georgette model of black velvet faced with acroprene moire. Wide moire ribbon and three feathers, the color of the facing, comprise the trimming.

Louise model: amethyst velvet draped the crown; a lattice of hydrangea, blue velvet, and satin ribbon form a turned up brim. Wings in iridescent coloring complete the trimming.

Miss Montclair is in charge of the millinery department.

The millinery department, however, is not the only attractive department in the store, there being 42 distinct departments and each and every department looking its best.

The inspection of the throng of people who always call on the opening days to see the latest of the season's creations.

Next to the millinery department in importance is the suit and cloak department and in this place, like the millinery, there was also a living model who was displaying coats, gowns and suits. Mrs. Maxine Lorrine of the Merry Widow company is the model in this department.

In this department can be seen all the latest Boston, New York and Parisian styles of fashionable gowns. Madame Traversy presides over this department and certainly, from long training and experience, she knows how to arrange for a display of the latest styles to please the ladies.

A charming evening gown by Cherrill is being shown in this department. This model is of "feuille de rose" pink crepe de chine.

Space prevents us from giving a more detailed description of the many beautiful gowns and suits on display.

The store was thronged all the afternoon and evening yesterday by people who were inspecting the different departments as well as listening to the harmonious concert programs given by the American orchestra.

Plants and cut flowers were in great profusion and led to the great enchantment of the place. The opening will continue throughout the day and evening. It is a display that is well worth going miles to see.

MADAME UMPLEBY HAS RETURNED FROM DRESSMAKERS' CONVENTION

Mme. Umpleby, of Merrimack street, has just returned home from attendance at the fall convention of the Dressmakers' Protective association, where were displayed models of the latest creations of the leading Paris designers.

Mme. Umpleby secured at the convention a large number of exclusive sketches of gowns and wraps made by such famous fashion designers as Martine Armand, Boue Sours, Francis, Dorelli, Dorelli, Badin, and others of equal eminence in the style world.

These sketches will not be published, as they were secured by the Paris office of the Dressmakers' Protective association exclusively for members. They illustrate the very latest designs of the famous fashion designers whose names they bear, and will be ready to show to the public for fall and winter, 1909-1910.

In order to allow her patrons to examine these sketches and also to inspect new materials and colors, Mme. Umpleby announces that she will hold an opening of her show room at No. 100 Central street, early in October. This exhibition should prove very instructive to all who are interested in the vagaries of style, more particularly as a member of radical changes from prevailing models are indicated.

NEW YORK CLOAK AND SUIT CO.

The New York Cloak and Suit company is holding its fall and winter opening and fine display of cloaks, suits and gowns is being shown. This store has always been the very center of attraction for the fashionably dressed ladies of Lowell, and this year and particularly this fall, the company has nearly doubled its floor space and the entire establishment is filled with the most beautiful display of ladies' fashionable wearing apparel. It would be hard to think of a style, shade or color that a lady of taste might desire that cannot be found at this store.

Here can be found the best goods in the market, this being one of a number of stores located in New England cities, the management of which carries a large portion of their coats and suits. An important branch of this store is the fur department which probably carries the largest line of furs in the city.

The mammoth windows of this establishment show samples, displayed on models, of the most beautiful cloaks, gowns to be seen anywhere in New England, and it is worth going miles to see. Mr. Walter Emmett, the manager, of the Lowell store, shows that he has wonderful ability and is the right man in the right place. The opening was yesterday and proved to be an unqualified success and more business was done than on any other two days in the history of the store.

A woman who is out to see the fall display will certainly make a great mistake if she fails to visit this, the largest, the most beautiful and popular cloak and suit store in the city.

ROSE JORDAN HARTFORD

Mrs. Rose Jordan Hartford's millinery opening was a triumphal success. It would not be Mrs. Hartford's unless there was something original. She has the faculty of always producing something out of the ordinary, and this season she has a living model in the person of Miss Kathryn Frances Sullivan, who is proving a great attraction on account of her facility to display the various styles of hats.

For the first time in our city a window display of a living model was shown in Mrs. Hartford's window, and Miss Sullivan attracted large crowds of women and even men.

It was a novelty that will long make the people bear in mind the name of Mrs. Hartford.

Speaking generally, from points gleaned at Mrs. Hartford's showing, it appears that the "draped" turban is among the most popular styles, though there is no dearth of the large picture hat, with the "Marquise" or "Continental" by no means last in the list of favorites.

The range of materials is wide. There are many heavier hats and heavier cloth is used for drapings, also. Ostrich feathers, both plain and withon, are more popular than ever, but not indispensable, for there are many other attractive trimmings. If one wishes softer, one can have it, moderately or in profusion, for gold, silver and iridescent trimmings are among the desirable novelties. Wings and fancy feathers, too, play their usual important part.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 4.—Commander Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, after a two days' absence from the city, arrived back home from New York on the Bar Harbor express today. Accompanied by his wife he drove from the Union station to his hotel unobserved. The length of time which the commander and Mrs. Peary will remain in Portland was said to be indefinite but was thought likely that they will go to their home on Eagle Island, Casco bay, shortly.

The commander declined to make any remarks regarding the controversy between himself and Dr. Cook, claiming that he had nothing to say until the statement presenting his claims against Dr. Cook is made public.

In an interview with the Associated Press at his home shortly after his arrival, Commander Peary said: "I feel deeply honored by the reception which I received in New York. It was great. Thank everyone for me. I have absolutely no idea how long it will be necessary for me to remain here in Portland. My stay is governed positively by circumstances. I want to get back to Eagle Island as soon as I can and have a few weeks of quiet here and rest with my family. I do not think that it will be possible for me to get down there today. Perhaps I can go tomorrow. As I said before my movements are governed entirely by circumstances.

"I do not know what the plans of my men on the Roosevelt will be and as to the disposition of the vessel that rests entirely with Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club. He is the man to see for those questions. It is all out of my hands now.

"As I have repeated and repeated you can state positively that I shall have nothing more to say regarding this controversy. Gen. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic club, will make public a statement on the subject early next week. That is all I can say about the matter.

"When I get back to Eagle Island," he concluded, "I trust that I shall not be disturbed. I don't want to be interviewed. I want to be alone down there with my family. I want rest."

Peary's style of hat to the complexion and stature of the purchaser. This is one of the most difficult tasks that the milliner has to perform, but Miss Roarke makes a specialty of this and can tell at a glance just what kind of hat will be most becoming on the intending purchaser.

Yesterday Miss Roarke's studio was crowded with ladies who expressed their admiration for the new styles, the new forms and the new color effects applied in the hats for the fall season. Miss Roarke was kept busy taking orders and in this respect as well as from the point of artistic display the opening was a complete success.

Two comfortable and commodious parlors are at the disposal of the lady in search of a stylish and becoming hat or bonnet can rest while Miss Roarke or some of her able assistants pick out what is most suitable to the purchaser, most attractive and most becoming. Those who intend to purchase anything new in the millinery line should call to see the very elegant display in Miss Roarke's parlors.

MAY DUNLAP LEIGHTON

The annual fall opening of May Dunlap Leighton's Hat Shop in the Central block took place yesterday afternoon and evening and will continue throughout the day. The exhibit of fall millinery at this place was of the highest order and hundreds of admirers of artistic headgear called to inspect the latest styles. Many orders were taken and the visitors were all well pleased.

VERY FINE DISPLAY

Kittie Blennerhasset, with apartments at Rooms 45-46 Central block, presented to the public the usual beautiful display of millinery. Miss Blennerhasset's reputation as a milliner is too well known to need any great comment from us, as any lady who went to her parlors never came away disappointed. She seems to know what they want and has the goods and never fails to please her customers. The opening will be continued during the day.

HEAD & SHAW

Head & Shaw, located at 159 Merrimack street, are old-time milliners, and they have a reputation for having the correct thing in millinery. This year their display is certainly in keeping with all the former ones, which have always been up among the leaders. The bulk of the lot is perfect and the customers are sure of getting something that will please, both in quality and price, when a hat is purchased in this store. The window and store display are in keeping with the best on the street.

MILLINERY DISPLAY

Agnes Herard is holding her fall millinery display at Rooms 41, 42 and 43 in the Chalfoux building and received many visitors yesterday who spoke in the highest praise of her display of millinery. Miss Herard is a very popular milliner and her business is increasing rapidly.

VERY ATTRACTIVE

The Rogers Millinery store at 175 Merrimack street came in for its share of the honors at yesterday's millinery display. Their windows as well as the display in the store was very attractive.

HARD AND GARLAND

Hard and Garland at 51 Merrimack street, over Bailey's drug store, are among the most popular milliners and always receive a generous patronage. Their shop being located upstairs they do not make any great preparations for display of hats, but as milliners their work is always entirely satisfactory.

MISS HIGGINS' FINE DISPLAY

It is always a pleasure to visit the millinery openings at the rooms of Miss Abbie Higgins in the Union Bank building, for one is sure to see the correct mode, artistic in design and effectively arranged.

Miss Higgins this year has an exhibit which by far exceeds all of her previous efforts.

Noteworthy is the new Hudson-Pulton turban built of Nanette green beaver cloth and gold metal braid, with roses and foliage in green and burnt amber, posed gracefully on the side.

Miss Higgins is showing the new Broadway sailor and has a smart model on that order of acroprene lined with the daisy bow of Monte Carlo plaid ribbon.

The Higgins special this season is a white moire antique with imported band and willow plume in black and a Dorelli quiet pink crepe.

Miss Higgins is showing this season in having Madame Tewksbury of New York city, as designer.

Yesterday Miss Higgins and her salesladies were taxed to the utmost in taking care of the many admiring friends and customers who called to look over the beautiful fall and winter display of millinery. The opening will continue today and evening.

MISS ROARKE'S ARTISTIC DISPLAY

One of the latestest and most artistic displays in the millinery line shown in the fall openings is that of Miss Roarke at 175 Central street, adjoining the Colonial building. There seems to be a delicate and touch of refined taste and millinery genius, we might say, applied in everything that Miss Roarke displays on her counters. She has the latest styles in ladies' headgear for young and old and she is truly an artist in adapting any party. They have a thorough knowledge of the millinery business and are original in designs.

PLEASES CUSTOMERS

Mrs. A. Van Hise, at 16 Bellevue street, is a parlor milliner and enjoys a large patronage as her work is so eminently satisfactory that once a hat is purchased from her, the buyer will be back the next season for another. She never fails to satisfy her customers.

GRAND DISPLAY

Miss E. Leclaire, of the Marble Bank building, at the corner of Merrimack and John streets, has grand millinery parlors and also a nice display of crinoline hats and she is considered one of the fashionable milliners of the city. Many of her friends inspected the display yesterday and were loud in their praise. The opening will continue throughout the day.

CARDS FOR FURS

Miss Rose Calise is a furrier and is located at room 37, Central block. She keeps the very best place in the city to have your furs cleaned and remodeled, or to purchase new furs. She is an expert in her line of business and will be pleased to meet all her friends at her parlors. She can supply furs at all prices and to fit every pocketbook.

REV. JOHN ELMEN

Swedish Pastor Tendered a Reception

The vestry of the Swedish Congregational church in Loudon street was the scene last evening of a reception to the new pastor, Rev. John Elmen. It was said that almost every one connected with the church was present and there was no question as to the warmth of the reception. The greeting to the pastor was followed by a musical and literary program, opening with a selection by the choir; address of welcome by Mr. C. F. Pillsbury, by the choir; visiting address by Miss Esther Anderson; address by Rev. Mr. Swanson of North Easton, reading, Miss Julia Nelson. Among the ministers present were Rev. P. Vincent of Stoughton and Rev. Mr. Nelson of the Swedish Methodist church.

Refreshments were served by a committee of the Young People's society of the church, consisting of Misses Martha Anderson, Jennie Abrahamson, Carrie Anderson and Mabel Swanson. They were assisted by Mrs. Nellie Peterson, Mrs. Ida Swanson and Mrs. Christine Anderson.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Messrs. Alfred Swanson, David Peterson and August Anderson. The church vestry was prettily decorated.

YALE LINE-UP

WILL BE COMPOSED OF LAST SEASON'S VETERANS

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 2.—No worry is felt over the outcome of today's football game between Yale and Syracuse as the Yale lineup will be of last season's veterans while Syracuse will have but a single player who has faced Yale before. The visiting eleven has Tad Jones for coach, while Yale's head instructor in gridiron tactics is Howard Jones, who himself brought Syracuse down here last season. Yale men will probably direct their attention to the playing of Ben Hinkley of the visitors, he being a brother to Frank Hinkley, one of the greatest ends who has worn the Yale colors. The game will start at three o'clock.

MAYOR vs. MURPHY

Attachment for $12,000 Filed at the Court House

An attachment was recorded at the registry of deeds office in the court house in Gosham street, this forenoon, in behalf of the mayor and against lawyer Dennis J. Murphy, action of tort, or contract, ad damnum $12,000.

The attachment was served by Deputy Sheriff Eveleth. The writ is returnable at the superior court, in Cambridge, the first Monday in November.

The suit is said to be for $9000 and interest, alleged to have been paid the defendant, July 27; the mayor claiming that he has not received any proper accounting of same. M. H. Sullivan, of Boston, is counsel for the plaintiff.

CITY HALL CLOSED

The city hall closed at noon today out of respect to the late Ald. John D. Turner whose funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

On account of city hall being closed this afternoon registration will be suspended until 7 o'clock this evening. The office of the registrars will open at that hour and will remain open until 9 o'clock.

Owing to the extra number of pupils at the State Normal school in Lowell, the payroll for September shows an increase of $210. The increase is presumed to be due to the necessity of assistant teachers.

When the school department asked for more money it probably had in mind the school physicians and the school visitor, Alice M. French. The cost of their stipends amounts to $249 per month.

The position of school visitor is practically new. The school department asked for an appropriation to cover the salaries of school physicians and school visitor but the committee on appropriations gave the board the marble heart. The physicians and the visitor will be paid just the same.

WAS FINED $20

Edward Flynn was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Thomas H. Quinn, an elderly man, on the night of June 12th.

Flynn was employed as a bartender at John T. Donohue's saloon in Lakeview avenue and it was alleged that Quinn after being refused liquor grew belligerent and after being ordered out the door, he pulled him to the door and then left him standing on the sidewalk.

After summing up the evidence in the case the court found Flynn guilty and imposed a fine of $20. He appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

Drunken Offenders

Literally speaking, Peter Drolet, who was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of drunkenness, did not have a leg under him. Peter had both legs tucked off below the knees some time ago, but that does not interfere with his drinking. He entered a plea of guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Father of Ten Children

John Partell, the father of ten children, has a bad throat for liquor and, despite the fact that he has been given numerous chances to abstain from the intoxicating beverage, he fails to do so. He will spend the next two months in jail.

His Wife Dead

John L. Boucher, whose wife died very suddenly yesterday morning, shortly before he was arrested for drunkenness, entered a plea of not guilty. The fact that he had been drinking heavily of late was made known to the court, but the prisoner's manner plainly showed that he felt deeply the position which he was in.

The court, after considering the circumstances connected with the case, placed him under $1 bonds for his appearance Thursday morning. Patrolman William Giroux going surety.

Four Months in Jail

John J. Flynn, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to four months in jail.

John Ryan, who was recently released from jail after a clerkman had pleaded in his behalf, started to drink within 24 hours after being released, and when he was arraigned in court this morning Judge Hadley refused to listen to his plea for clemency and sentenced him to the state farm.

MR. BRYAN'S SILVER WEDDING

THE IRISH LEAGUE

T. P. O'Connor, M. P.
and Capt. CondonWITH MR. O'CALLAGHAN TO
SPEAK HEREMeeting at A. O. H. Hall Tomorrow
Evening to Be Addressed by Lawyer
Jordan and Mr. Galvin of Boston.

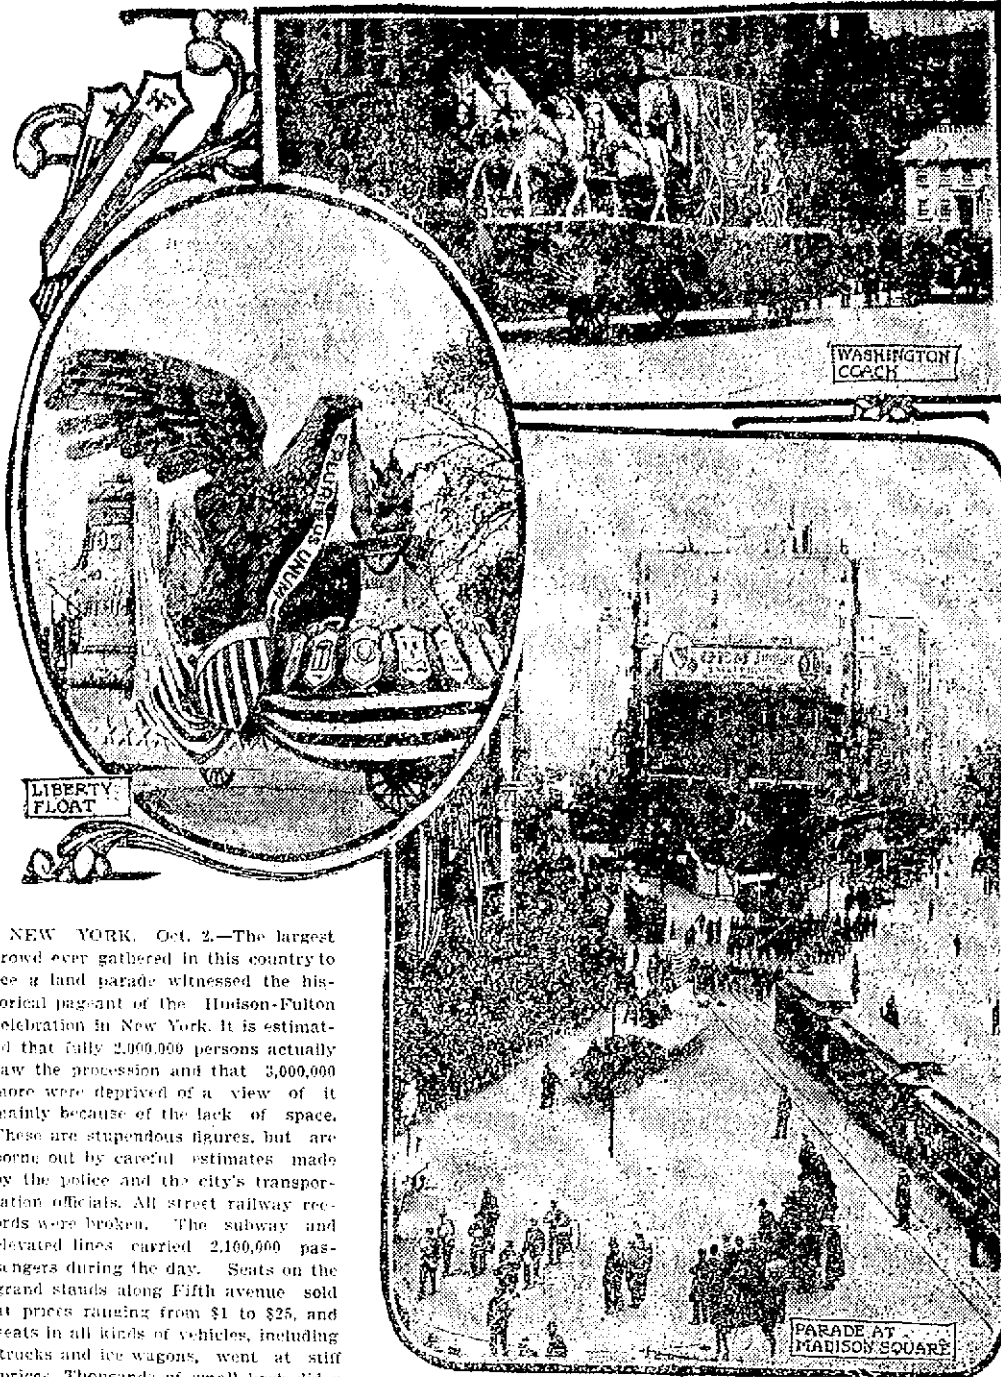

There will be an important meeting of the United Irish League tomorrow evening in Mibernan hall, when Lawyer M. J. Jordan of Boston will deliver an address on the Irish cause. There will be a musical program in which Joseph Brennan, a local vocalist and humorist, will sing several selections. Mr. Jordan will be accompanied by a young man named Galvin, recently from Ireland, and an eloquent speaker. The league has received a communication from the national president, Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia, in reply to its letter requesting an engagement for John O'Callaghan and Capt. Edward O'Meara Condon, now getting great ovations in Ireland. Mr. Ryan states that T. P. O'Connor, M. P., a well known leader and one of the greatest men in the Irish party, will return to the United States with Messrs. Condon and O'Callaghan, and will come with them to a meeting in Lowell. The reception to these three men promises to be one of the grandest demonstrations of the kind ever held in Lowell. It will be too great to be confined to any one organization, and consequently prominent citizens of all classes, especially those in sympathy with the Irish movement, will be invited to attend and to meet all three gentlemen at a banquet.

Preliminary arrangements for the meeting will be made tomorrow night, and the members of the league, those who belong now or have belonged, are requested to attend in full numbers so that proper steps may be taken to arrange for the reception of the three distinguished gentlemen mentioned. The meeting will open promptly at 8 o'clock, as Messrs. Jordan and Galvin want to start for Boston as early as possible after delivering their addresses.

THE MARATHON RUN
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—No stimulant will be permitted for runners in the annual Marathon run of the Illinois Athletic Club today. This decision was made yesterday by the committee in charge, which ruled that ammonia fumes, one of the latest innovations of the Red Cross society, should be used on exhausted athletes to revive them.

VIEWS OF NEW YORK'S HISTORICAL PARADE,

WHICH WAS SEEN BY 2,000,000 PEOPLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The largest crowd ever gathered in this country to see a land parade witnessed the historical pageant of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York. It is estimated that fully 2,000,000 persons actually saw the procession and that 3,000,000 more were deprived of a view of it mainly because of the lack of space. These are stupendous figures, but are borne out by careful estimates made by the police and the city's transportation officials. All street railway records were broken. The subway and elevated lines carried 2,100,000 passengers during the day. Seats on the grand stands along Fifth avenue, sold at prices ranging from $1 to $25, and seats in all kinds of vehicles, including trucks and ice wagons, went at stiff prices. Thousands of small boys did a profitable business in soap boxes to be used as seats. Nearly every furniture store in the greater city sold out its stock of camp stools. Five thousand policemen guarded the line of the parade. The pageant consisted of fifty-four magnificent historical floats, constituting a moving picture of 500 years of the history of New York and its vicinity. There were 15,000 persons in the parade, which was officially reviewed by Vice President Sherman, Governor Hughes and the admirals of the international fleet.

500,000 CHILDREN

Took Part in the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Hudson-Fulton celebration closes here today with festivals designed particularly for the school children. There will be a sacred concert tomorrow, and on Oct. 3 Brooklyn will have a carnival parade similar to that to be given in Manhattan tonight, but without the Half Moon and the Clermont. The inspiration of the celebration having gone up the Hudson and passed to the smaller cities along the banks of the historic stream.

Half a million children today took part in the pageants held in 46 different school districts. There was hardly a park in the city not devoted to this purpose. In each separate celebration of 45 from 5000 to 10,000 children participated.

The pupils have been preparing for this day for months. Each district was left to its own devices as to the subject to be portrayed and the result was a series of pageants illustrating nearly every episode in American history. The weather today was fair, but a fresh breeze dashed the hopes of those who looked for more ship lights. Glenn H. Curtiss spent the night at Governors Island and was out to meet the first streak of dawn, but he quickly announced that the wind was too brisk for a flight and said he would not go up unless it subsided.

This is Curtiss' last day here, and his admirers are disappointed at his failure thus far to accomplish anything spectacular. Wilbur Wright did not go to Governors Island until later in the day. He will be here most of next week and he declares that he can afford to wait for favorable conditions before attempting a journey over the untried path up the Hudson.

The celebration commission still hopes that Wright will enable it to fulfill its prophesy of a flight up the Hudson as far as Grant's tomb and over the anchored warships.

The ship race to Albany in competition for the New York World prize of $10,000 has been declared off and the three dirigibles entered were packed today for shipment to other exhibition points.

The floats which have been shown in Manhattan and Brooklyn were lighted over to Staten Island for the local celebration for the borough of Richmond. The route along Fifth avenue, where two million persons have already seen the historical pageant and a military parade will be the scene of the third street display of the celebration today.

The celebration up the Hudson continued today with the departure of the Half Moon and Clermont from Newburgh to visit the cities along the river as far north as Troy.

Tomorrow the 34 warships which have been the glory of the celebration will prepare to depart and a few of them, including the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento and the United States cruiser Frigate, have left already. Tonight the international fleet will be illuminated with thousands of incandescent lights, strung from stern to bow and from water's edge to masthead.

VAGARIES OF A COLD

In winter cold may settle in the bowels. In the summer it may give you colic or summer complaint. But don't fear appendicitis or inflammation of the bowels. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 2.—Miss Mary Seymour is at her home here today recovering from the shock and injuries inflicted by a big devil fish which nearly drowned her in the surf at Long beach yesterday.

Miss Seymour who is an expert swimmer went out beyond the life-line near the pier when the octopus grasped her with its tentacles. Screaming in terror, she struck for one of the pilings of the pier while the monster would itself about her lower limbs. She managed to lay hold of the pile and her shrieks brought lifesavers to her aid. When rescued she had swooned.

HARVARD ELEVEN

TO MEET THE BOWDOIN TEAM

TODAY

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 2.—Recovered from the nervous disposition which marked their play during the first game of the season with Bates, on Wednesday, Harvard's eleven went into the second game against Bowdoin today advanced in their manner and method of play. Bowdoin's aggression was not regarded to be as strong as that which represented the Maine college last year and which had Harvard to a 5 to 0 victory. But four members of last year's team played, the team suffering an eleventh hour loss in the absence of Wilson, the regular fullback for two seasons. It was expected the game would be largely an open one, both Bowdoin and Harvard having devoted much time to perfecting the details of the forward pass and a new game tactic. The day was fair and a tinge of fall gave ideal football weather.

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

GIVE US GRANOLITHIC SIDEWALKS ON MERRIMACK STREET.

Now that Merrimack street is being smoothed paved in order to improve the sidewalks as well as the middle of the street, it would be well to have granolithic sidewalks from Merrimack square to city hall. At present there are a few strips of such sidewalk. The Sun having been first to set the example. It would be a vast improvement to Merrimack street, a help to the stores, a pleasure and a source of safety to the general public.

The city of Lawrence has been all summer paving Essex street, and now that the paving is finished we understand that granolithic sidewalks are to be laid for the greater part of the way, the east to be divided between the city and the abutters. We cannot afford to be behind Lawrence in any public improvement.

FOR STEEL AND STONE BRIDGES.

The wooden bridges over our canals should be done away with. They are a common nuisance. Take for example the old canal bridge on Central street. How often had it to be ripped up and renewed? Who ever saw it in good condition although it was frequently relaid and covered with concrete? Now that steel girders have been put in with wood block paving it is solid and will give no further trouble. The old East Merrimack street bridge over the canal has also been replaced with a solid steel bridge which will give no trouble for a great many years. The old wooden bridges over the canals are out of date. All canal bridges should be either of steel or of stone.

The city engineer is right when he argues that all our bridges be either of steel or stone. The stone bridge would last the most durable. We should have a stone bridge over the river at Pawtucketville and doubtless we shall have as soon as we can afford the expense.

THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The one thing noticeable in the democratic state convention over the conditions of past years, was the greater harmony that prevailed. Without harmony the party can do nothing effectively. With harmony and a reasonably good ticket it can give the republicans at least a good battle. At the present time the party has a definite state issue in the eight hour law vetoed by Governor Draper, and still another in the efforts so plainly visible at certain points, especially in the city of Boston, to interfere too much in the government of cities. An investigation of state finances is also favored and on this issue there is room for some good campaign material against the republican candidates.

The platform denounces the new tariff law as far short of what the republicans promised, while it endorses the income tax amendment as essential to the needs of the country and calculated to protect the people in a measure against vast aggregations of wealth in the hands of a few.

The ticket headed by James H. Vahey with Eugene N. Foss for lieutenant governor and Harvey N. Shepard for state treasurer, has a good team of campaigners to assail the republican cohorts. If democrats will work for the success of the ticket in view of the elements that may be brought over from the republican side by Mr. Foss, the party should make a splendid showing at the polls.

ADOPT THE AUTO LAWS OF FRANCE.

In the matter of regulating the use of automobiles so as to prevent excessive speeding and the consequent loss of life, we might well take lessons from France which has been in the auto business longer than we.

Judging from the ever-increasing number of auto accidents reported from every part of this country, it would seem that our present laws are wholly inadequate or else ill-adapted to restrain the reckless drivers of automobiles.

As a rule when an accident occurs, even though it be a fatal accident, either the chauffeur or the proprietor is summoned to court, and if it appears that the driver of the auto was exercising reasonable care when the accident happened, he will be exonerated. If it appears otherwise he may be fined while in extreme cases of carelessness he may get a short sentence to jail.

Under the present law the convictions are few and these do not restrain the reckless drivers, nor check the madly of speed mania which is so dangerous to the public safety.

What then is the remedy? It is very simple, but it has never been adopted in this country. It is in full force in France and has the desired effect.

There is no speed limit in France. The reckless chauffeurs, the boy riders and others can go just as fast as they please, but they must take the entire responsibility for accidents to individuals or vehicles, of less speed whether they are to blame or not. That may seem to be a sweeping law but it is effective in restraining speed and in preventing accidents. It is a great guarantee of safety on the public highways, a guarantee such as none enjoys in this country. If an auto knocks down a pedestrian, even when the latter is to blame, the auto pays the damages. Between an automobile and a vehicle of lesser speed, the auto bears the blame and must pay consequential damages. In a collision between two autos, it is an open question whether the responsibility rests with one or whether both were equally to blame.

To some this law might seem unjust but it is very evident from the total inefficiency of our present laws for the protection of the public on the highways of the state, that there will be no real improvement until some such law as that which is in force in France be put into effect here.

When steamships were first put into commission there were numerous collisions between steam and sailing craft; but eventually the navigation laws were so changed as to place the entire blame and responsibility upon the steamship that collided with a sailing vessel. That very soon stopped the collisions, because it made the steamship companies more cautious, thus vastly increasing the security not only upon steamships but upon sailing vessels also.

The case of the auto in comparison with vehicles of less speed is precisely similar to that of steamships and sailing vessels, and the application of this wise and effective law of navigation would prevent reckless and driving and consequently the resulting accidents, thus removing most of the present day dangers and terrors of walking or riding on the public highways.

SEEN AND HEARD

The bald-headed man with the four days growth of beard on his chin went into a hairdresser's shop and sat down in one of the operating chairs. To him presently came a bundle of the razor, who bowed, respectfully:

"Shave or cut?"

"No," growled the man in the chair. "I want to be measured for a suit of clothes."

"This statement seemed to surprise the barber, but he managed to say:

"This isn't a tailor shop, sir."

"Isn't it?"

"What is it?"

"It's a hairdresser's shop, sir."

"What sort of work do you do in this shop?"

"Shave men and cut their hair, sir."

"Do you think a man with no hair on his head would come in here to have his hair cut?"

"No, sir, I don't think so."

"Then, say that sir, why did you ask me if I wanted a shave when I took a seat in your chair? Why didn't you ask me if I wanted a haircut?"

"I am sorry, sir, but I am a hairdresser, and I am used to asking people if they want a shave or a haircut."

ONE GREAT PLAY

"The Travelling Salesman" Makes Big Hit

It may be that Kendall Weston's picture doesn't adorn the wall in Nick Knicker's or that Frohman never heard of him, but nevertheless we have seen the theatre-goers occasionally pause, and doff our hats to Kendall and the old Savoy theatre, now the Hathaway, in Shattuck street. Why for?

Because Kendall's modest little stock company, recently developed, some good stars of later days and when last night the biggest audience of the season went half crazy with delight over "The Travelling Salesman" a few looked for the name of the author and then looked at the play with renewed interest for "The Travelling Salesman" is the unadorned offspring of James Forbes, who used to "play parts" in the Kendall Weston stock company.

Mr. Forbes wrote also "The Chorus Girl" and who did he write it around? The charming Rose Stahl of course, his former leading lady in the afore-said Kendall Weston stock company.

There was another feature that enhanced the Lowell interest in the great production and he was a more recent and bigger favorite than Weston, popular Al. McGovern, who only a few seasons ago was the head of his own clever stock company at the Academy of Music and is still remembered with delight by the lovers of high class melodrama.

aversion to men in general and "drummers" in particular.

In particular, Eliza Mason had a character part that took a clever actress to interpret properly, and Miss Mason had the real conception of it. Her line in the last act when dragged into his room by the irascible "Bob Blake" "But, my God, I don't want to compromise myself," was one of the most laughable bits in the play.

"And who'd expect such deceit in a fat man?" said Mrs. Babbit, referring to "Bob Blake." "The Travelling Salesman" is a play that is full of the characteristics of a fat man and no deceit. He was fat, but lively, breezy, typically full of up-to-date slang and a typical drummer. He is not the original "Bob Blake" as the part was created by Mr. McIntyre, formerly the fat boy in "Strongheart," but he was just as good as the original, and had the audience with him from start to finish. It certainly gave the matinee girls a shock to see Al. McGovern in the role of a "heavy," decidedly different from his work while at the head of his stock company, but Al has versatility galore and his presentation of "Franklin Royce" was clean-cut, dramatic work. In the second act Mr. McGovern carried off the honors. His conception of the drunken man was most artistic, if the word can be used in that connection, and his many Lowell friends who were in the audience were in their praise of his work.

T. C. Hamilton, who played the character of "Marlin Drury," also a "heavy," is well known to older theatre goers in Lowell. He was for several seasons with the late Frank Mayo when Frank Kelly of this city was manager for Mr. Mayo. As "Julius," the colored "everything" at the hotel, George DeVore was great, and his description of Royce's condition, "utterly submerged," will be a byword. Gideon Burton and Joseph Sullivan as "Kimball," the poker player, who was "shy" and "Cobb," who was always talking about a game he played out west, had much to do with the success of the play scene, while the other members of the company were adequate to the parts assigned them. The play was properly staged and altogether no play that has been seen here this season has given more complete satisfaction. There are two performances today. Get in.

THE GAY RUSSARS

In a sense Miss Anna Bussert, the charming young "nature" who is singing the role of Rusa in Mr. Henry W. Savage's production of the new military opera, "The Gay Russars," which will be seen at the Opera House, Monday, Oct. 4, is an artistic product of the Welsh Eisteddfod—the national music festival of a notably national people for winning the first prize in an eisteddfod held in 1907 when she was a mere girl, determined the future career of this talented soprano. Miss Bussert is a native American; but her mother was born in a little town in Wales whose name uses up all the consonants in the alphabet.

As a child wearing prematurely long skirts Miss Bussert began a singular concert career. While a schoolgirl she discovered that her voice was of unusual quality. On Sunday mornings she traveled to Fort Wayne, a distance of about fifty miles from her home, and sang in a church choir. Later in the day she sang again in an opera house, and on Monday morning rode at four to catch a train that would take her home in time to reach the high school that she was attending. At odd times she appeared at concerts, acting as her own manager, settling on the conditions and carefully guarding the receipts.

After graduating from school, Miss Bussert went to New York to study, and then abroad to finish her musical education. While in Venice she made a public concert appearance so successful that she was offered the post of leading soprano in the Royal Italian Opera. There she sang as such roles as "Michele" in "Carmen," Juliet in "Roméo and Juliet," and Marguerite in "Faust," and a long term contract was offered her at the conclusion of her regular engagement. Meantime, however, she had been accepted as a pupil by the famous Jean de Reszke, and as her studies required her presence in Paris, she was forced to forego her opportunity in Venice.

"UNCLE DAVE HOLCOMB" Mr. William Lawrence will present an interesting rural drama entitled "Uncle Dave Holcomb," a story of a charming New England life at the Opera House next Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 5 and 6. Mr. William Lawrence, who will portray "Uncle Dave" in the play, has for the past five seasons been playing "Uncle Josh" in Boston. There is no finer comic play, "The Old Homestead," than "Uncle Dave Holcomb." The play has many scenes of strong dramatic interest, with a blend of pathos and humor.

"A BROKEN IDOL" Otis Harlan, who is the featured comedian in the production of "The Broken Idol," which will be seen at a return date at the Opera House on Thursday, Oct. 7, is a thoroughly supplied with wit. At one time when he was playing "Hot Stuff" in the "The Broken Idol" he was a "Black Sheep" he was a

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"Nothing is too good for the patrons of the house," is the motto of the Hathaway theatre, and the results of the policy of booking the very best of vaudeville are mutually gratifying to the public and the box office. Next week's special feature will be Walter Perkins & Co. in the funniest farces, "Mr. Larch from Jordan & Marsh."

Mr. Perkins plays the part of a ladies' tailor from a big department store, sent to the residence of a married woman to do some fitting for a suit which she has ordered. While he is taking the measurements the husband arrives home suddenly and, seeing them together, jumps to the conclusion that she is entertaining an admirer in his absence. A brightly written comedy is "The Stage Manager," and it is beautifully done by Bert Howard and Edie Lawrence. Swagart and Edie's skits, daintily stepped dances and the catchiest of songs are some of the things which combine to make the act given by Perkins and the Clark Sisters a dazzling bit of musical comedy. Pelzer and Whyte, the singing comedians, offer a first class number. Two men with agreeable voices, surprise the team. Foley and Dugan are pedestal dancers, who give a striking demonstration of skill and grace in the execution of dancing steps. Phyllis Gordon, "The Girl Who Sings," is sure to establish herself as a favorite with Lowell audiences. Volta, the electrical marvel, is also listed for appearances during the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

They're all going to the Academy of Music this week for that is where the big vaudeville and moving picture show is given six days a week. Women and children are admitted in the afternoon for five cents admission, which includes a good seat. The performance runs from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 10 p. m. On Saturday a continuous performance is given from 2 to 10 p. m. and the bill is always changed on Monday and Thursday.

THEATRE VOYONS

The Hudson-Fulton parade of last Tuesday is shown in the second of the series at the Theatre Voyons today. This picture is one of the clearest and most distinct that has ever been shown of a national event and persons engaged in the big success goes to the theatre to see it. The picture is the many floats all telling some part of the history of New York. The magnificent decorations, the inspiring court of honor and the reviewing party all appear in this picture. The dramatic feature "Leather Stocking" is a great picture, and "The Dash to the Top" has one of the most sensational fights ever seen on the screen.

STAR THEATRE

An unusually big show will be given at the Star theatre Monday, including two new vaudeville acts, motion pictures, illustrated songs and the wonderful talking pictures. The vaudeville acts will be presented by Miss Julia Tracy, a clever character woman, and Harry Whalen, blackface comedian. The last opportunity to see Bill Sears in his funny musical act and Sadie Fearn, dainty soprano, will be given tonight.

MATHEWS' MOVING PICTURES

Sunday afternoon and evening one of the best of all the moving picture concerts given at the Mathews' will take place.

Along with the many reels of pictures shown there, fine illustrated songs will be sung by Mr. John J. Dalton, Miss Ethel M. Krowlton, and Mr. Charles Rogers.

The concert in the afternoon will be at 2.30. There will be two concerts in the evening, one at 7 o'clock and another at 8.45. Admission 10 cents.

MAJESTIC THEATRE, BOSTON

The season is not likely to give us a more delightful or exhilarating attraction than we are to have in James T. Powers in the new musical play in three acts entitled "Havana," which plays its only engagement in New England at the Majestic theatre, beginning Monday evening, Oct. 4. There will be matinee on Wednesday and Saturday. Of the original book, by George Grossmith, Jr. and Graham Hill, James T. Powers has made a free adaptation for America. This play has a musical record. It has been running at the Theatre Edward's, Harty theatre in London for two seasons and has been played for two seasons at the Casino, New York, and comes direct to Boston with the original cast.

The splendid music of "Havana" is by Leslie Stuart, composer of "Florodora." It is a triumph of good things in a musical way. In dancing, music, comedy and variety, no other play has been played for two seasons at the Casino, New York, and comes direct to Boston with the original cast.

Make Your Own Lamp Shades

Charming Effects That May Be Evolved With Colored Cut Paper For Home Decoration.

To meet the ever increasing demand for novel and artistic shades, whether for lamps, candles or electric bulbs, many ingenious and fanciful designs constantly appear in the shops that cater especially to the needs of the modish world. Not a few clever girls also evolve charming lamp shades for the decoration of their homes, for shades are hardly distinguishable from those of the best genuine mosaic glass. These very novel contrivances are far from difficult to make, the materials necessary being cardboard, book cloth or stencils, paste, glue, a sheet of glass or hard board, a sharp knife and a pair of fine scissors. The shades are formed in sections—six sides and a top per can be used to smooth all rough edges. Any unevenness must be pressed out in each design. In the daisy shade, for instance, the centers of the flowers are brown, the petals yellow and the leaves in two shades of green. The right border of each section should be double the width of the left one. A line is drawn down the center and turned back to form a clean, sharp turning. This extra fold is glued beneath the left border of the second section, which in turn is secured in like manner to the third, and so on until all sides are completed. They are lined with white tissue paper. The square forming the top is also provided with extra pieces for turning in and gluing to the top edges of the sides. Any color scheme can be selected, as the designs are purely conventional. Butterflies are attractive and may be arranged in an endless number of ways. The butterfly lamp shade in the cut has a background of bluish purple, which serves admirably to show up the rich tints, lemon, saffron, orange and brown used in the fluttering wings of the insects. The purple iris is another favorite subject, with its sperrlike leaves expressed in

One and one-half cups granulated sugar, one-half cup butter, one and three-quarter cups flour, three fresh eggs, two ounces cocoa dissolved in five tablespoons of boiling water, one-half cup milk, two tablespoons baking powder and one teaspoonful extract vanilla. Cream the sugar and butter together, add the well beaten yolks of the eggs, then add the cocoa dissolved in the boiling water, add the milk, then add the flour and baking powder, lastly folding in the well beaten whites of two eggs, reserving the white of one egg for the icing, flavored with a teaspoonful vanilla.

To make icing take one cup of sugar and four tablespoonfuls of water and boil together until the sugar strings from a spoon, pour this into the well beaten white of one egg, beat thoroughly until cool, then spread on cake.

FASHION FACTS AND FANCIES.

Carved coral is enjoying a revival. The coral comes in the old, old fashioned "bunches" of flowers or fruits or simply round pebbles, apparently, crowned with a small carved head.

This autumn will see the fashion for elaborate trimming under the arm in full swing. No one can prophesy these days how long it or any other fashion will remain in style.

All one can hope for nowadays is that styles won't go hopelessly out of fashion before one can wear the garment one is having made. A dressmaker should really go home with every gown to alter it on its arrival.

One of the new bracelets that are attracting attention is a band of gold from a half inch to an inch wide, either heavily engraved or covered with a pattern of black or colored enamel.

What next? A coat has been made and worn that is trimmed with buttons that resemble eyes! They are long, narrow and painted to look like the human eye.

The possible success of the style of 1830 has already made a difference in the fascinating wares at the trimming! cropping out in plaited skirts.

counter. Even now one may find charming little cutouts things made of satin or tulle in black and color or prettier of tatters with pinked edges that look sometimes like huge carnations. These two are the salient features of the 1830 gown. They are used to decorate the full skirt. They play their part upon the pointed bodice or upon the elbow sleeves.

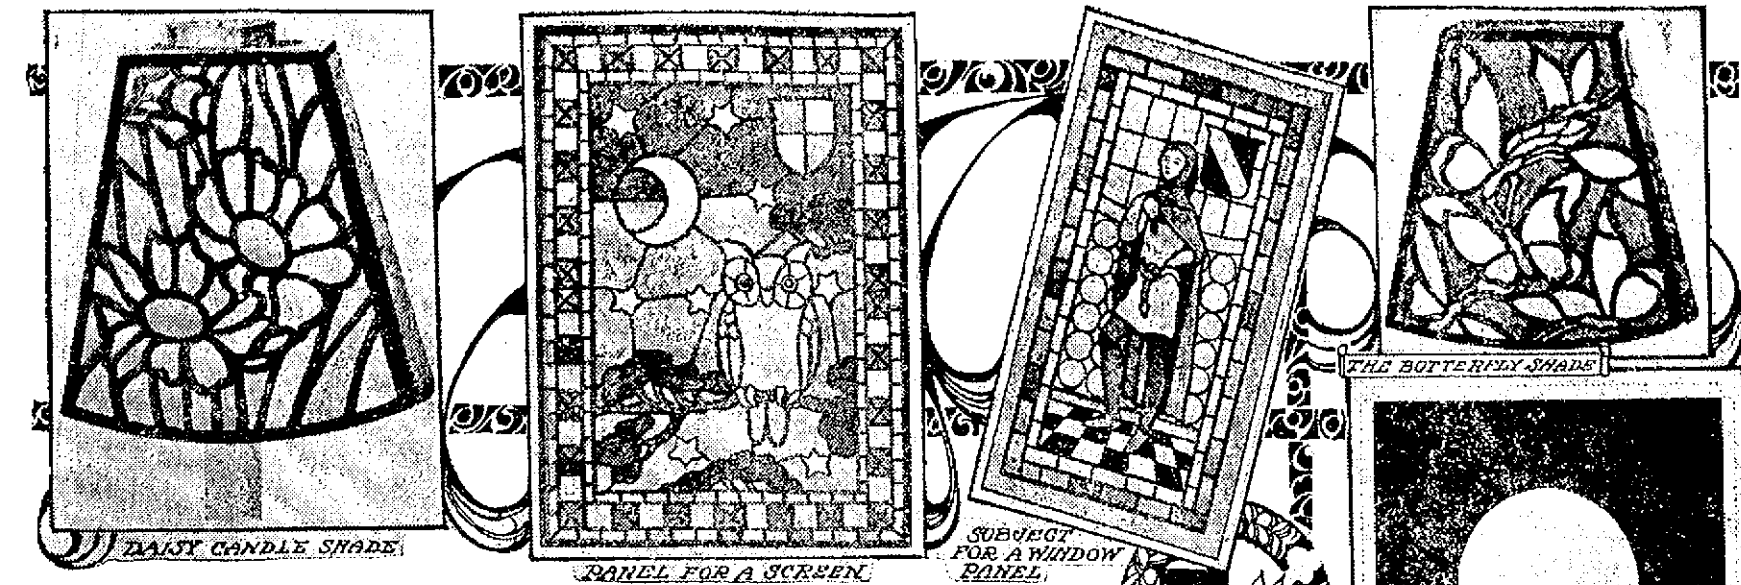

According to notes from Paris, the simple leather belt is going to come into its own again as soon as ever there is visible a waist line which it may inclose.

The world has grown quite weary of net blouses. It has seen too many of them in the past year.

The material that has been substituted is fine eyel embroidery. This is found in colors as well as white and cream.

It is often dyed to match the suit, although the gumps is now the preferred thing, as the one piece frock is more and more in fashion.

The waistcoat will play an important role in autumn wear if the low cut coats buttoning below the waist line retain their popularity. This length of line in the revers is very graceful and helps to lessen any influence which is the fascinating wares at the trimming! cropping out in plaited skirts.

Newest in Evening Gowns

The evening gown illustrated has various new points that are worth describing. The high corselet fourreau of oyster white satin fits like a glove around the hips, but a noticeable feature in the design is the great fullness that is brought into the skirt at the back, to which we have long been unaccustomed. Over the satin fourreau is a close fitting tunic made of a lattice-work of silver cord and opals, an opal being set wherever the cords cross each other. This tunic falls in a deep point almost to the feet in front, the line rising thence to the back, where the tunic ends just where the full folds of the train begin. A border of silver tulle embroidered in opals and silver thread finishes the edge of the tunic. The upper part of the bodice is very original. It gives the effect of being merely a draped fichu of pale rose chiffon and old lace, which is all in one with the gathered sleeves that barely reach the elbow. The corselet is a very high one, and the folds of the fichu bodice are tucked into it. But it remains a corselet, and there are no bretelles to continue the line over the shoulders.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING.

Miss Sophie Wright, founder of the first night school in New Orleans, is one of the few women who have received the loving cup which is annually presented to the citizen who has done the greatest public good for the city during the year. In this cup was a check for $10,000, which had been subscribed by the citizens of New Orleans to pay the debt Miss Wright had assumed in enlarging her night school

A Frilly Autumn Costume

It is predicted that we will have a season of frills and furbelows, which will be a decided contrast from the flat trimmings that have been decorating our gowns lately. Ribbons, it is said, used as trimming, both in rosette and choux, are to be seen on a number of costumes less severe in type than the tailor made. Indeed, even on many

Miss Gertrude MacArthur, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, pastor of Calvary Baptist church in New York city, has been appointed a teacher of English in the peeresses' school at Tokyo. This school has only the daughters of the nobility of Japan for its pupils. A daughter of the mikado is being educated there.

DR. COOK HAT FOR WOMEN.

The newest fashion in women's hats has been named the "Dr. Cook." It is suggestive of the polar region. It seems as high as the cartoon of the pole, although in reality it is only two feet tall. It is constructed of brown fur, fuzzy and expensive. It is just such a hat as the explorer might have worn, and it looks a good soup in case of arctic emergency. A knowledge of spray or algaet sets high up on the left side. The president of the National Association of Retail Milliners, in session recently in Chicago, is the designer of the Dr. Cook hat that is quite in line with the heavy turbans that a mode designer before the north pole became such a bone of contention.

The Gown of the Season

One Style That Won't Change For Awhile. Scarcity of the Heaven Born Wife.

There would be fewer unhappy marriages if women would learn to look upon matrimony as a profession. Most girls are very selfish. They consider a husband as a natural procreant sent by Providence to minister to their every want. They do not bother much about what they will do for the man in return. Very few girls are heaven born wives. The idea that a woman "takes" to marriage as a fish to water or a flower to the sun is not founded on fact. Practically the only part of it which comes easily and naturally is what in reality is a very small portion of married life—the love-making. Marjorie can bask in Edward's smiles by the hour. She can listen to him saying the same old thing and return his caresses endlessly. And of course this is all very nice, but to back up

The Gown of the Season

One Style That Won't Change For Awhile. Scarcity of the Heaven Born Wife.

THE princess gown has certainly come to stay, for the winter anyway. No dressmaker thinks of making a gown in two pieces. The latest creations on this order have a long hipped corselet sewed into the waist as a lining. The corselet has the usual front and side elastic. "Side" is the wrong word to apply to these elastic, which are placed so far back they materially reduce the figure. Beaded effects are all the rage this fall. You see them on the jersey waists now so much worn and also on the expensive cloth dresses. Cashmere is being revived extensively, and black cashmere trimmed with satin is especially favored. The sash with a flat bow in the back is another feature to be reckoned with. It appears on nearly all the imported models. A last year's empire evening dress can be made up to date by adding an overdress of spangled effect and bringing one of these sash effects low down to give the long waisted look. No satin hats will be worn the coming winter. White or black moire will prevail instead where the finest silk beaver is not used. But silk beaver is the smart thing above all else. It comes in all colors and is trimmed with feathers and at- tracts, carrying out the soft effect. By the way, a great many buckskin gray shoes are to be worn. These, besides being pretty, are the most practical shoes ever invented. They do not show the dust and can be worn for months without applying dressing. Besides, they go with nearly everything. Speaking of clothes, have you ever noticed how remarkably well some people keep them and how rumpled others look? It all depends on the way they are treated. Cloth skirts should always be put on hangers and carefully brushed when taken off. If dust is left in, the cloth soon becomes shabby. As for blouses, their hoods should be sewed firmly, and when not in use they should never be hung up, but kept in a drawer. Boots and shoes should always be well dried. Gloves should be stretched before putting them away in the glove box. Scarcity of Heaven Born Wives.

She can listen to him saying the same old thing and return his caresses endlessly. And of course this is all very nice, but to back up

Love-making good solid qualities are needed. One of the most necessary of these is the ability on the wife's part to control her temper. The first quarrel is the one to be avoided. Once you give a man the habit of speaking his mind disagreeably you are lost. Then the talent of homemaking is one to be cultivated. Some women can make a cozy home in one furnished room, while others make a palace thereby. Sympathy on the wife's part is invaluable. Many a prosperous man has married a plain, little, mouse colored woman for this one quality alone. A man likes to feel sure that he can always come home and find it. Management of the Home. Ability to manage a house and to direct a servant is not to be underestimated. Love soon flies out of the window where there is discomfort. And perhaps the knack of appearing always well dressed is equally valuable. This means more good taste than expenditure of money. It also means cleverness in adjusting garments, hair, etc. This is something which can be cultivated and which grows on one, as the opposite extreme does also. In fact, any thoughtful woman will see that marriage demands much cleverness and good management on the wife's part if she would make it a success.

Lack of Hospitality. "People are not as hospitable as they used to be," remarked a friend of mine. "What is the matter?" I asked. "Well, the Smiths won't take that nice apartment on the avenue because it has one more room than the family needs, and they say they are afraid all their friends will come camping on them." I don't blame them. I know a woman who is being continually bothered by one of town friends who make a habit of her house. She has changed her extra room into a Turkish den, placing in it a hard, bean stuffed divan with a beaded covering instead of a bed. "There!" the mistress of the house exclaimed. "If they want to sleep on that they can!" Note Clyde

ONE OF THE SEASON'S HATS.

WHEN SCHOOL BEGINS.

Now that school days have begun once more a plain, sensible little talk to mothers who have girls and boys in the high schools may be of advantage. The summer vacation has doubtless developed splendid health and a fine color in the cheeks of these young students, and the question of keeping this great physical gain through the stress and strain of school work should not be overlooked by parents. A healthful standard may only be maintained by establishing at the beginning of the school year regular habits to conform to the demands of school hours and work. Late hours should certainly be prohibited, no matter whether they are spent in study or pleasure. Nine hours of sleep are not too much for growing girls and boys, and less than eight should not be allowed. Study hours should be so arranged that between the hour school is out and recitations for the next day are prepared there should come time for recreation of some sort out in the open air in which to freshen both mind and body. Mothers are apt to overlook the fact that one hour of concentrated study is far better than hours of diverted and uninterested work. The mother, too, who allows her child to occupy a cramped position while it reads or to study in a bad light is encouraging future backaches and headaches. Small children should be watched while they are writing. Children, too, have a habit of leaning over

THE HOME ATMOSPHERE. Woman makes the atmosphere of a home, and it is for her to decide what that atmosphere shall be. Shame on the woman who does not make it an atmosphere of sunshine and love! Though she may be possessed of the wisdom of Minerva and the beauty of Venus, she is not a good or a worthy woman if she allows her moods and temper to ruin the home life of those dependent upon her for happiness. Women are apt to excuse themselves regarding their moods and their tempers by saying that they inherit these peculiarities or that they are the result of illness or trouble. That is false. There is no inheritance we cannot overcome if we set ourselves about it, and some of the people who have suffered the greatest losses and the saddest trials in life have developed the sweetest characters. It is pure selfishness which prevents a woman to dread, too, have a habit of leaning over

PEARY WILLING

To Submit Records to a Commission

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Dr. Cook's refusal to submit his observations, notes and other data at once to a competent American scientific commission is all that stood in the way of compliance with the suggestion of the National Geographic society yesterday that such a step-by-step Cook and Peary—should provide any official recognition of the explorer's claims.

Correspondence made public here last night shows that Commander Peary has already formally signified his willingness to comply with this condition, but Dr. Cook in a letter to Archer Huntington, president of the American Geographical society, has declared that he will continue in his determination to lay all his records and instruments first before the University of Copenhagen.

According to the announcement made here last night, Professor Dr. Renssen, president of Johns Hopkins university, was asked several days ago by Henry E. Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History and by Mr. Huntington, to appoint by virtue of his authority as president of the National Academy of Science—a committee of astronomers, geographers and zoologists, to whom the records of Peary and Cook should be submitted. Dr. Renssen, in reply, telegraphed:

"It would be idle for me to appoint a committee to investigate the North pole problem unless I were clearly understood that Commander Peary and Dr. Cook are willing to submit their evidence to such a committee. If they are willing to do so I shall not hesitate to appoint such a committee as you suggest."

Mr. Osborn at once took steps to obtain the consent of Peary and Cook. He received the following dispatch from General Thomas H. Hubbard, on behalf of Commander Peary:

"Peary willing and desirous to submit all his records and data to National Academy committee or other scientific impartially selected."

Dr. Cook at first fell in with the suggestion which was put before him by Mr. Huntington, but later reconsidered the matter, saying that "Following the Danish investigation, the record will be sent to all the geographical societies of the world after which it becomes public property."

The Captain and Crew Imprisoned

PENNSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 2.—Seizure of the fishing schooner Caldwell, off of several tons of the imprisonment of Captain Joseph Gaffney, and his crew of seven, men has been reported by a Mexican warship, according to a despatch received by the owners of the vessel here yesterday, the master at large.

The schooner left here 11 days ago, supposed for the Campeche fishing banks and the first known of her seizure—evidently upon the charge of preaching on Mexican fishing preserves—was the result of the despatch from the captain.

The ship was formerly a New York pilot boat.

THE PRESIDENT HARRY WHITNEY

Interested in Panama Arrived in Salem Last Night

TAUOMA, Wash., Oct. 2.—After passing two days in and about Seattle, President Taft came to Tacoma last night and received from an audience that thronged the big arena one of the most cordial greetings of his trip. The president was entertained at dinner at the Union club, after making the trip from Seattle on board the yacht El Primero, owned by Chester Thorne. The torpedo boat destroyer Perry escorted the yacht.

Before leaving Seattle, the president paid a last visit to the exposition grounds to view the live stock exhibition, and from the judges' stand made a brief speech.

President Taft promised yesterday to attend another exposition to be held on the Pacific coast in 1915 in celebration of the completion of the Panama canal. Mr. Taft said the date was beyond his term of office, but that his interest in the Panama canal and in the expansion of trade on the Pacific had been so great for so many years that he readily gave his promise to attend.

When the president left Tacoma yesterday, he was accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. C. G. Ladd, and a number of other officials. He was accompanied by a number of other officials.

During the time he has been on the road, the president has made eight speeches of that importance, clearly setting forth his views on questions of importance, and he delivered last night that he had completed the list of set addresses. The president's outspoken opposition to self government for Alaska, unquestionably caused consternation in this region. The speech was widely discussed yesterday and he was heard to say that he was not in any way committed to any one position.

It is understood that the president will make no specific recommendations to a successor for legislation affecting the territory until after his visit.

Yale still has some. Every year several building lots are sold to people who are wise and shrewd investors in real estate. They know that there is no more desirable place in the city of Lowell to build a home, than in the Park Land Company's land. The land is dry and has a view enough to get away from the din and noise and yet near enough to the city to make it a pleasant place to live. The land will be sold in lots of less than five acres. It is the safest investment that a person can make. Read the ad in this issue.

NIGHT EDITION

HENRI FERON

Man Accused of Murder Arrived in Lowell Today

Henri Feron, the alleged murderer of Flora Rivers was brought to this city today from Quebec city, Que., by Inspector Charles Laflamme of the local police department and State Officer Byrnes. The proceedings connected with the return of Feron from Canada to the United States were accompanied by a great many drawbacks and delays that the officers, as a matter of fact, were unprepared for because they did not know what was coming.

The officers were not aware that besides the papers which they received at Washington, it was necessary for them to get a warrant from the governor general of Canada, and they did not know that a prisoner wanted here had to remain 15 days in the custody of the Canadian authorities before being turned over to United States officers.

The process in Canada is a bit slow, even when taken in time, and the warrant from the governor general of Canada did not reach Quebec city until yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, and three hours later State Officer Byrnes and Inspector Laflamme were on their way to Lowell. They came over the Grand Trunk, via Portland, Me.

The officers found Feron very uncommunicative. He admitted that he left Lowell at an early hour in the morning of Aug. 27, and that he went to Nashua. He has not admitted, however, that he was responsible for the death of Flora Rivers. He told the officers that he saw a woman lying there on the floor in the house in Nashua, and that becoming frightened he started for Nashua, to his mother's home.

Feron was working in the woods for his cousin when arrested. That was at St. Sebastian, about 100 miles from Quebec. Asked why he fled to Canada, he said that his friends in Nashua advised him to "skin." He did not resist arrest at all, and in fact he told the officers that he was glad to get away from the old blacksmith shop that was being used as a camp. He said that all he and the rest of the loggers had to eat was bread and potatoes.

Feron presented a decidedly abject appearance as he was being escorted to the police station by the officers today. He admitted that he had worked a great deal and his appearance sustained his words. He was thin and emaciated and the fact that he was about ten days shy on a shave didn't help his looks any. After a short interview in the inspectors' office at the police station Feron was taken to the county jail in Thornehill street by State Officer Byrnes. Feron has been indicted by the grand jury and he will be brought in for trial at the next session of the criminal court. The Lowell police have done with him.

Feron and the Rivers woman lived together on the top floor of a three-story tenement house at 7 Herford place, off Marshall street. Early on the morning of Aug. 27 a milkman called at the tenement in question to leave a bottle of milk and as the milkman arrived at the little landing leading to the back door he saw a woman lying there. She wore a nightdress covered with blood and the milkman, Alexander Quebec, discovered that her throat was cut.

There was nothing he could do to relieve her and he went in search of medical assistance. The police were notified, the ambulance was summoned and she was removed to St. John's hospital, where she died several days later.

Neighbors told the police that Feron and the Rivers woman had quarreled the night before, but no screeches or very loud noises were heard. The police found that the woman had been assaulted on a mattress that was spread on the floor of the hallway and she had crawled from there to the spot where the milkman discovered her. A bloody axe standing near the mattress told the story of the crime.

Feron was missing and the police learned he went to Nashua. Inspector Laflamme started for that city and when he arrived at the police station in Nashua he learned that Feron had left about ten minutes before. Feron had gone to the central fire station in Nashua and told the firemen that he wanted to see a Lowell policeman. He was directed to the police station and he went there. There, too, he said he wanted to see a Lowell officer and the Nashua police believing that the man was suffering from over indulgence in strong drink told him that the best place to find a Lowell officer was in Lowell.

Feron went to his mother's house in Nashua. He had attempted suicide by drowning but was rescued. Feron was seen after having visited his mother's house but nothing was heard from him after that day until the police here got the tip that he was in Canada and his arrest followed.

TICKET NAMED

GOVERNOR EBEN S. DRAPER

Draper and Frothingham Renominated by the Republicans

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—The republicans of Massachusetts, in a smooth and characteristic convention today nominated the following state ticket:

Governor, Eben S. Draper of Hopedale.

Lieutenant governor, Louis A. Frothingham of Boston.

Secretary of state, William M. Olin of Boston.

Treasurer, Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville.

Auditor, Henry E. Turner of Malden.

Attorney general, Dana Malone of Greenfield.

The platform adopted endorsed the administration of President Taft and of Gov. Draper, approved the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, and the merchant marine subsidy bill, and declared in favor of referring the question of a federal income tax to the legislature, because the state already collects such a tax and the issue of turning the revenue over to the national government, or of levying a double tax is involved.

A resolution offered from the floor of the convention by former speaker of the Massachusetts house, John N. Cole of Andover, that the income tax question be referred to a conference committee composed of the governors of the New England states was referred to the committee on resolutions, but was not reported to the convention.

Particularly do we favor a wise economic policy, it states, such further legislation as may be necessary for the protection of forests and the encouragement of their cultivation. In regard to labor the platform maintains that the republican party has been the true friend of labor throughout its existence beginning with its initial struggle for the rights of men. "We believe," it says, "that such party is the best friend of labor that makes the conditions such as to create the greatest demand for labor. The republican party does not endorse every cause advocated in labor's name but only such as are consistent with labor's actual rather than its alleged welfare."

Concerning the city of Boston the platform describes the welfare of the commonwealth and its great metropolis as being inseparably joined and commits itself to the statement that the legislation of the past session of the general court relating to the city of Boston was of an epoch-making character and will result in large benefits.

"The republican party pledges itself to cordially join in every earnest effort that shall be made for the advancement of the interests of the capital city of the commonwealth."

About public service corporations the platform says:

"The policy of supervision and regulation of public service corporations is at the present time receiving the commendation of the entire country. It is a Massachusetts plan, born of republican legislation and to its further and more complete development we pledge our earnest efforts to the end that the public may have at the minimum of expense and the maximum of intelligent and efficient service."

A paragraph devoted to national affairs states that in common with all the people we give our unqualified approval to the administration of President Taft. He spends the wealth of his talents and of his experience effectively in the cause of the nation and the people feel secure with him as their leader.

"The republican party of Massachusetts has always favored an income tax on the principle that the burden of taxation should be distributed so as to bear most heavily upon those best able to sustain it. The question presented to the people of this state is not the question of imposition of an income tax, but rather of its disposition or else it is the question of a double income tax. We believe that this question is one that should be decided by the legislature, not as a political issue, but as a practical question having due regard to the relative needs and the sources of revenue of the national and local governments. The discussion of the tariff is a lengthy one. The platform says: 'The pledge of the party to revise the tariff was speedily redeemed at the special session of congress called for that purpose by President Taft. The reductions in duty made by the Payne act so greatly outnumbered the increases that it stamps it effectively as a general downward revision. The revision was made in the interest of no section of the country, but upon broad national lines.'

The drafting of the act was the most complex problem ever undertaken by congress. We believe that this act is of great value to the laboring interests of the United States than any measure that has ever been enacted, and that it will bring more prosperity and more comfort to our people than effected in any other act of industrial legislation. We believe that the welfare of the country is served by giving the legislation a fair trial by agitation for further changes. Therefore, we would discourage the attempts of those dissatisfied men who have always been hostile to that fundamental principle of the republican party, the protection of American industries."

The platform refers to the acknowledgment of the party's indebtedness to the efforts of our senators and junior senators on these matters and recognize with deep appreciation their growing and salutary influence to the councils of the nation. We also are deeply appreciative of the work our representatives have done in obtaining these satisfactory results."

Regarding the merchant marine, the platform commends the action of the senators from Massachusetts and of our republican congressmen in voting for the ocean mail bill which provided for the creation of regular American mail steamship lines, and now now exist, direct from our ports to South America, Australasia and the Philippines. We believe legislation should be enacted by congress that will provide for an effective method of building up a strong merchant marine."

In closing, the platform states that "the republican party has for 54 years served the commonwealth of Massachusetts and submits to the people its record and this statement of its principles and purposes, confident that the trust reposed in it in the past still continues."

The resolutions as presented by the committee were unanimously adopted. United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge who was hailed with enthusiastic handclapping and cheering then rose to place the name of Eben S. Draper in nomination for governor.

The speech of acceptance of Gov. Draper in part was as follows: "I am deeply honored by the nomination of the convention. I have the very distinguished honor of accepting nominations at the hands of a republican state convention four times previously, three times as lieutenant governor and twice including today as governor. I appreciate this confidence and hearty expression of opinion on my part as a candidate. I accept the nomination and will do the best I can to see that your candidates and party are successful at the polls in November. I feel that the people will do me the honor to see that the duties of the governor are well performed."

After the acceptance of the nomination, the republican party at the state house, overwhelmingly republican in its opinion, measured up to the full standards of any that we have had in the past. It passed many wise measures and defeated many unwise ones."

"Among other very important measures that were passed was the bill consolidating the board of education and the industrial commission into a new board of education which in my opinion will eventually be of great benefit to the cause of industrial education throughout the whole state."

"The bill regulating the use and abuse of automobiles and laying a graded tax so that the commonwealth will collect something like $200,000 a year more from owners of those machines than at present, was passed."

"The bill providing that appropriations for rivers and harbors shall be an annual appropriation of a certain amount, the money to be expended by

MAYOR VS. MURPHY

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Refusal of Miss Phoebe Armstrong, 28, to marry Charles Miller, a stationary engineer, aged 50, terminated in a double tragedy at the boarding house at 519 Rush street, early today. Apparently Miss Armstrong was shot as she slept. Miller is believed to have shot the young woman and then ended his own life.

THIRTY PERSONS RESCUED

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—More than thirty persons, men, women and children, were rescued from the hotel Regent, a fashionable apartment hotel in the Back Bay district early today. Three women were so badly over come as to require medical attention but all will recover. A crack in the main gas pipe in the basement of the house had allowed the gas to escape.

The harbor and land commission rather than to have special measures brought before the whole legislature for action will in any opinion be a great benefit to the state in many ways.

"Nationally there has been passed a new tariff bill. I do not believe any tariff bill that ever has or ever will be passed will be perfect but I do believe that this bill is a good bill from the standpoint of a man who believes in a protective tariff. The bill was a distinct revision downward and at the same time it is a protective tariff bill and one which will yield splendid revenue to the nation."

When Gov. Draper had concluded his speech of acceptance Draper, Mr. John J. Higgins, of Middlesex county, renominated Lieutenant Governor Louis A. Frothingham. Mr. Frothingham was nominated by acclamation.

Opportunity was given for the delegates to hear some of the party orators, including U. S. Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, former mayor of Boston, Edwin C. Curtis, and Governor Draper. The convention was in session a little over two hours and the program as arranged by the state committee at preliminary meetings was perfectly carried out.

A DISASTROUS FIRE

PITTSBURG, Oct. 2.—A fire, which threatened to destroy an entire square in the south side section of the city, broke out shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Within a short time the warehouses of the MacBeth-Evans Glass Co., and the Patterson Coal and Supply Co. were burned. The flames spread rapidly, and also burning a number of freight cars standing on the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston railroad, reached the Wolfe Brush Co. and a large lumber yard.

BENNETT NAMED

Saugus Man Gets the Nomination for Senator

The seventh Middlesex republican senatorial district convention was held this afternoon at the republican city committee rooms for the purpose of naming a senatorial candidate.

The convention was called to order by George W. Moore and Councilman Thomas W. Baxter of Lynn nominated Mr. Bennett as temporary chairman. John W. Hutchings of Saugus nominated Wm. J. Abner of Lynn as temporary secretary.

Henry E. Fiske moved that a committee on credentials, consisting of three members, be appointed by the chair. The chair appointed Mr. Fiske chairman, H. L. Chapman of Lowell and George A. Hubbard of Lynn.

The committee on credentials reported that the convention was entitled to 45 delegates from two cities and 15 towns, and that the delegates were present.

The temporary organization was then made permanent. Ex-Mayor H. W. Eastham of Lynn placed in nomination Frank P. Bennett, Jr. of Saugus.

Hon. John W. Stevens said that he had been authorized by Alonzo G.

Walsh to nominate Frank P. Bennett, Jr. of Saugus, as the candidate for senate by acclamation.

Mr. Bennett was then ushered into the hall. After the applause had subsided Mr. Bennett accepted the nomination.

The next business was that of appointing a member to the state committee.

Mr. James W. Sweetser, of Lynn, named Senator James W. Grimes of Reading. He was chosen by acclamation.

Alonzo G. Walsh, of this city, was called upon for a speech by Ex-Mayor Eastham, of Lynn. He said that when he heard himself up against a new wall, he decided to stop and that was his reason for dropping out in favor of Mr. Bennett.

"I am a republican and always have been," said Mr. Walsh, after which he urged the delegates present to support Mr. Bennett and the republican party generally.

6 O'CLOCK CITY HALL CLOSED

Out of Respect for Late Alderman John D. Turner

The city hall closed at noon today out of respect to the late Ald. John D. Turner whose funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

On account of the city hall being closed this afternoon registration will be suspended until 7 o'clock this evening. The office of the registrars will open at that hour and will remain open until 9 o'clock.

Owing to the extra number of pupils at the State Normal school in Lowell, the payroll for September shows an increase of $240. The increase is presumed to be due to the necessity of assistant teachers. When the school department asked for more money it probably had in mind the school physicians and the school visitor, Alice M. French. The total of their stipends amounts to $240 per month.

The position of school visitor is practically new. The school department asked for an appropriation to cover the salaries of school physicians and school visitor but the committee on appropriations gave the board the marble heart. The physicians and the visitor will be paid just the same.

WAS FINED $20

Man Appealed and Was Held for Superior Court

Edward Flynn was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Thomas H. Quinn, an elderly man, on the night of June 12th.

Flynn was employed as a bartender at John T. Donohue's saloon in Lakeview avenue and it was alleged that Quinn after being refused liquor grew boisterous and after being ordered out and refusing to go out was pushed out by Flynn. It was further alleged that Quinn fell on the sidewalk and suffered a broken ankle and was confined to the hospital for several months and also that at the present time he is being treated at the hospital. He now makes his way about with the assistance of crutches.

Thomas H. Quinn, the complainant, was the first witness called. He testified in part as follows: "I reside at 1 West Burnside avenue and know the defendant, Edward Flynn. He is employed as a bartender at John T. Donohue's saloon in Lakeview avenue. I went in there on the 12th of June and got two glasses of ale. I was served by Mr. Donohue, and he spoke a few words with me.

"While I was drinking I was talking rather loud and striking the bar with my hand. He said that if I did not keep quiet he would put me out. The first thing that I knew Flynn came from the back of the bar and catching me under the arms, shoved me out of the door and I dropped on the sidewalk, breaking my leg.

"I was picked up by Ben Morris and James Fleming and taken to my home and later taken to the Lowell hospital. I am still being treated at the hospital."

Cross-examined witness said that he had been in Donohue's saloon in the afternoon. He admitted that he had a knife in his hand, but said that all he had the knife for was to cut tobacco. He denied that he was ordered out of the place in the afternoon. After he left the saloon, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, he went home and stayed there until 8:30 o'clock, when he went out for a walk and went into Donohue's saloon at the corner of Fulton street and Lakeview avenue, arriving at the latter place at 8:45 o'clock.

Dr. Viles testified to having attended Mr. Quinn and found that the latter had a skin disease, probably an ulcer of the ankle. Witness did not feel that the ulcer would have any effect in prolonging the disability of Mr. Quinn as the ulcer was movable and had not come in contact with the ankle bone.

Gertrude Seymour, 124 West street, was the next witness called. She was in the saloon on the night in question. She heard Mr. Quinn ask Mr. Flynn for a drink and the latter refused, whereupon Mr. Quinn said that his son could "lick" him (Flynn).

The Defence
John T. Donohue, the proprietor of the saloon, said that he had given orders to the afternoon not to serve Quinn with a drink whether he had money or not.

George Southworth, an overseer at the Lowell Machine shop, testified that he was in the saloon in question on the night of the assault. He heard Quinn ask for a drink and Flynn refused to serve it. Quinn then got up on the railing in front of the bar and threatened to strike Flynn. The latter ordered Quinn out, but he refused to go, and Quinn started to call Flynn a villain. Flynn then came from behind the bar and pulled him towards the door and put him out. Several other witnesses testified similarly.

Herbert Donohue, son of the proprietor of the saloon, said that he and Flynn had been instructed not to serve any drink to Quinn.

Edward Flynn, the defendant, said that he worked in the Lowell Machine shop during the day and worked nights at Donohue's saloon.

Flynn's version of the alleged assault was similar to that testified to by previous witnesses for the defence.

Flynn said that after he had ordered Quinn out of the place and he refused to go he took him and led him towards the door. He said that he did not push Quinn, but pulled him to the door and then left him standing on the sidewalk. After summing up the evidence, in the case the court found Flynn guilty and imposed a fine of $20. He appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

Drunken Offenders

Literally speaking, Peter Drolet, who was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of drunkenness, did not have a leg under him. Peter had both legs taken off below the knees some time ago, but that does not interfere with his drinking. He entered a plea of guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Father of Ten Children

John Furtell, the father of ten children, has a bad thirst for liquor and, despite the fact that he has been given numerous chances to abstain from the intoxicating beverage, he fails to do so. He will spend the next two months in jail.

His Wife Dead

John L. Boucher, whose wife died very suddenly yesterday morning, shortly before he was arrested for drunkenness, entered a plea of not guilty. The fact that he had been drinking heavily of late was made known to the court, but the prisoner's manner plainly showed that he felt keenly the position which he was in.

The court, after considering the circumstances connected with the case, showed him under $1 bonds for his appearance Thursday morning. Patrolman William Giroux going surety.

Four Months in Jail

John J. Flynn, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to four months in jail.

John Ryan, who was recently released from jail after some friends had pleaded in his behalf, started to drink within 24 hours after being released, and when he was arraigned in court this morning Judge Hadley refused to listen to his plea for clemency and sentenced him to the state farm.

Michael Murtha, drunkenness, was sentenced to two months in jail. John Collins was fined $5 and two first offenders were fined $2 each.

PRES. COMISKEY

F. A. BANGROFT O'DONNELL CO.

Business Manager of Presents Host of Opening Attractions

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—F. A. Bangroft, secretary and business manager of the national baseball commission, will have the direct management of the series of games between the Pittsburgh team of the National league and the Detroit of

While fall openings as a general rule are confined to displays of military, coats and suits, the O'Donnell Dry Goods company had extra attractions at its opening yesterday in its two new and large departments, each a month old, one devoted exclusively to bedding and the other, the now celebrated bargain basement, which has made a big hit with local shoppers. None who visited the great establishment yesterday went away without giving close inspection to these two new departments and each won many new friends and patrons. The bargain department, which was described at length recently in The Sun, was a happy thought or the part of Manager James Kelley, for it has proved to be a big money maker, and the patrons of the store are as well pleased with it as is the concern with its results. When it comes to getting new attractions for the public, the sky is the limit with the O'Donnell company, and hence visitors to the millinery department yesterday were captivated by the latest creation in headwear, the Aeroplane hat. It is of moire with velvet trimmings, with propeller like wings starting from the front and curving upwards, the result being a hat which is becoming decidedly popular. The mustards and olive shades are displayed in dainty array, and it is doubtful if this department ever presented a larger and more varied assortment of pretty offerings than it has this season. One cannot fail to admire in this department the exquisite Gage hat, which is a tri-corn hat, trimmed with velvet, with a southerly fringe and beaver. Black and white combined with white wings make a striking lot. A touch velvet hat, called the Ardrey, is made of velvet with trimmings of velvet and chincheriff fur. Then there is the Duchesse, as regal as its name, the Trenton, of good old Colonial style; the Montrose, and the natty Cosack and Hussar hats with their military dash and sensible proportions.

In the coat and suit department, which is on the same floor as the millinery, there are shown three-piece suits in westeria, coral and other shades. There are good fancy jackets in coral, westeria and copper shades is comprehensive. The skirts of a silk and silk form no small part of the display, and furs from the martens, fox and mink are shown in various attractive assortments.

The whole department is replete with interesting offerings. The bargain basement has a host of attractions with prices even as low as the articles themselves, in almost endless variety. Every one of the numerous departments has something to attract the eye and open the purse of the discriminating shopper.

MEMORIAL ARCH

Was Erected on Historic Ground

STONEY POINT. Standing on his toes ground where in 1773 Maj. Amos Wayne was conducting famous through the capture of Stony Point Garrison from the British after a short but decisive battle, Governor Hughes today dedicated a memorial arch erected by the Daughters of the Revolution of the state of New York at the entrance to Stoney Point park on the Hudson. The ceremonies were conducted by joint committees of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation society and the Hudson-Pulton celebration committee as a part of the work's celebration along the Hudson river.

When Mr. Wayne and his soldiers were captured, they were taken to Stony Point, where they were held for some time. The arch was erected on the site of the battle, and it is a fitting memorial to the brave soldiers who fought and died there.

MR. BRYAN'S SILVER WEDDING

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan observed their 25th wedding anniversary yesterday at Fairview, the house being decorated with flags and flowers and filled with messages from all parts of the world. Their children and three grandchildren were at home. Mr. Bryan dropped all business for the day and devoted himself to his family and visitors.

GRAND CIRCUIT The Three Top-Heavy Favorites Won

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 2.—The closing session here of the Grand Circuit was dull, three top-heavy favorites—Darkey Hal, Lady Stately and Macon—winning in straight heats without having to race up to the records. The Canadian queen, Darkey Hal, had the hardest task, although Melva J. had Lady Stately pretty straight in the first heat of the trot.

Darkey Hal has won three races at this meeting, and right now can handle all but the free-for-all pacers. Major Mallow, who was troublesome when they took George Sano's measure on Tuesday, was again the contender and he made Snow's mare go in 2:04 1/2, 2:05, 2:04 1/2.

Lady Stately drew the pole in the trot and never lost it, with Melva J. three times second. In the last heat Cox had McDonald to a drive in 2:01. Melva J. was better today than at any time since she worked in 2:02 at Syracuse a year ago. Last week she was beaten by Startle, but this afternoon handled him easily.

Macon, who marched off a mile a few days ago in 2:03 1/2, was much the best of the 2:11 pacers, with the Connecticut gelding, Hoosier Prince, always sure of second money. Elton Queen tripped in the last heat over on the back stretch, causing an ugly looking mixup in which she, Hal Perry, and Laura W. fell. Fortunately Drivers Kelly, Falls and Mallow were not seriously injured. The judges decided the accident unavoidable and placed the horses.

Probably the horses moved on to Lexington, Ky., where next Tuesday the famous Blue Grass trots begin. The Lexington entry is a record-breaker and the banner meeting of the year is expected.

MINNESOTA CREW

Won Race for Battenburg Cup

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The cutter crew of the United States ship Minnesota won the race for the Battenburg cup today. The crew of the Louisiana was second and that of the British cruiser Drake third.

The start up stream, the twelve oarsmen of the Drake shot ahead but they did not keep their lead for more than the first eighth of a mile. First the Louisiana's and then the Minnesota's oarsmen overhauled the Louisiana's and passed it at the end of the second mile. In the last 700 yards the Louisiana oarsmen made desperate sports and succeeded in closing up half of the boat length by which their rivals led but the latter, pulling evenly crossed the finish line opposite the British cruiser Argyle well ahead.

The crew of the Minnesota will now be added to that of the Louisiana and Illinois and Argyle (British) in the list of winners engraved upon the trophy.

COMMANDER PEARY Is Anxious to Get Back to Eagle Island

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 4.—Commander Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, after a two days' absence from the city, arrived back home from New York on the Bar Harbor express today. Accompanied by his wife he drove from the Union station to his hotel unobserved. The length of time which the commander and Mrs. Peary will remain in Portland was said to be indefinite but was thought likely that they will go to their home on Eagle Island, Casco bay, shortly.

The commander declined to make any remarks regarding the controversy between himself and Dr. Cook, claiming that he had nothing to say until the statement presenting his claims against Dr. Cook is made public.

In an interview with the Associated Press at his home shortly after his arrival, Commander Peary said: "I feel deeply honored by the reception which I received in New York. It was great. Thank everyone for me. I have absolutely no idea how long I will be necessary for me to remain here in Portland. My stay is governed positively by circumstances. I want to get back to Eagle Island as soon as I can and have a few weeks of quiet here and rest with my family. I do not think that it will be possible for me to get down there today. Perhaps I can go tomorrow. As I said before my movements are governed entirely by circumstances.

"I do not know what the plans of my men on the Roosevelt will be and as to the disposition of the vessel that rests entirely with Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club. He is the man to see for those questions. It is all out of my hands now."

"As I have repeated and repeated you can state positively that I shall have nothing more to say regarding this controversy. Gen. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic club, will make public a statement on the subject early next week. That is all I can say about the matter."

"When I get back to Eagle Island," he concluded, "I trust that I shall not be disturbed. I don't want to be interviewed. I want to be alone down there with my family. I want rest."

A PUBLIC OVATION

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—The home-coming, this afternoon, of the victorious "Tigers," winners of the American league pennant for the third time, was seized upon by the fans of the city as an opportunity to tender the Detroit and Chicago clubs a public ovation.

Chicago shared in the tribute of the fans for it was their defeat of the Philadelphia club which decided the pennant race for Detroit.

By order of the common council an elaborate program of reception had been arranged by City Clerk Nichols. Automobiles will meet the two clubs as they leave the train at the Michigan Central station this afternoon and headed by a band of music with hundreds of fans on foot behind the players will be driven from the depot to Bennett park where the last local game in the American league season will be played. Huge floral pieces have been prepared for presentation to the teams.

TRAIN SERVICE DEMORALIZED

ST. JOHN, Oct. 2.—Service on the International railroad was demoralized today as a result of a bad washout caused by yesterday's tidal wave which swept away the material from under the tracks for a distance of more than 1500 feet on an embankment along the Dorchester river near upper Dorchester. The great wave rushed in late yesterday at the moment that the train from Halifax for St. John was passing over the embankment. The train was going slowly and the portion of the track bed directly beneath it was not washed out, the weight of the train holding it firm. After several hours temporary repairs were completed. The Halifax train which was due here late yesterday afternoon did not arrive until 6:25 a. m. today. The tracks are now passable but all trains today were delayed.

THE JORDAN CASE

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 2.—The attempt of Chester S. Jordan to secure a new trial by proving Willis A. White, one of the jury which convicted him of the murder of his wife in May last, to have been insane at the time of the trial, was continued in the Middlesex criminal court today. Jordan and the male members of his family were present. Mrs. White read several letters received from her husband while he was acting as juror. Nothing incoherent appeared in the letters. About half a dozen letters written by White on the Saturday morning that he was taken to the Bloomingdale insane asylum at Worcester were submitted by counsel for Jordan as showing White's mental condition then.

CHARMING SCENE

At Mme. Gregoire's Fall Opening

What is it that makes Mme. Gregoire's millinery opening an event always looked forward to with great anticipation by the ladies of Lowell and vicinity? The answer is "Individuality." There are three characteristics about the Gregoire establishment that give it its distinguishing feature: the store itself, one of the most beautiful of its kind in New England, a paragon rather than a store; the pretty hats in original designs and artistic workmanship; and finally that most important feature to the customers, the reasonable prices on every counter. These are three great features of the Gregoire establishment. The newest of designs and the latest of shades always make their Lowell debut at Mme. Gregoire's and hence the humming of ladies who crowded the establishment yesterday found a feast for the eyes in the smart mustards, shades, Hussar blue, the raisin shades and a variety of green, olive and myrtle shades, which tastefully blended about the store, presented a charming blending of delicate colors. The new hats are exquisite and thanks be to goodness (an unappreciative man wrote this) their size is at least within the bounds of reason and they are by no means less attractive.

They include the captivating Hussar and Cosette with a jaunty air that is irresistible, the Fultons, as Hudsons, right up to the minute, and those latest Parisian designs for which Mme. Gregoire is noted, the Boulevard, July 1 last, the internal revenue LaPaige, Rejane, Durvay, Champs Elysees, Astoria, etc., each vying with the other in beauty. Mme. Gregoire has this year, as against the happy faculty of duplicating the $65,924,000 during the corresponding most exclusive Parisian designs at a three months a year ago.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—An increase for the fiscal year of $12,000,000 or more, if the present gain continues in the internal revenue receipts, is estimated by the treasury officials, those latest Parisian designs for which Mme. Gregoire is noted, the Boulevard, July 1 last, the internal revenue LaPaige, Rejane, Durvay, Champs Elysees, Astoria, etc., each vying with the other in beauty. Mme. Gregoire has this year, as against the happy faculty of duplicating the $65,924,000 during the corresponding most exclusive Parisian designs at a three months a year ago.

Under Circumstances
That Warrant Inquiry

Mrs. Jean L. Boucher died suddenly at her home, 523 Merrimack street, yesterday. She fell in a fainting fit while performing her household duties, and her little daughter immediately summoned the physician and priest. Dr. Bellemore and Rev. P. Ouellet, O. M. I., arrived promptly, but the woman was dead upon their arrival. At about the time of the woman's death, her husband was arrested for drunkenness. There were certain circumstances connected with the case that caused Dr. Bellemore to notify the medical examiner, and the remains were removed to the undertaker's where they were examined last evening by Medical Examiner Deas. The latter declined to make a statement at that time, but stated that there were grounds for an investigation.

The deceased leaves her husband, four children, James, Annette, Beatrice and Albert, this last an infant of four weeks; her father, Alfred Lawrence, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Poirer of Lawrence and Mrs. Michael Mayotte of this city.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Four more indictments in connection with an investigation by the Kings county grand jury of the recent horse races at Sheepshead Bay and Gravesend were returned yesterday, but the names involved were not made public. It is believed that the indictments are against three persons interested in the operation of two tracks and an official of the Brooklyn police department. Nineteen indictments were brought earlier in the week against alleged bookmakers, who have since been arrested and released on bail.

LARGE INCREASE IN IMPORTS INTO THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The imports into the United States were greatly increased during last August over those of the same month of the previous year, while there was slight falling off in the export trade, according to a statement made public today by the bureau of statistics in the department of commerce and labor.

Curious enough while the exports increased from nearly all the countries of the world, those from Japan fell from $7,235,710 in August, 1908, to $6,146,828 in the same month of 1909.

While the aggregate of imports showed a slight falling off in August, those from Canada, Mexico, Cuba, the Chinese empire and Japan all showed increases.

CUB-PIRATES SERIES---SCENE IN GAME

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Although the Pittsburgh team has been officially declared the winner of the 1909 National League and the interest has been lessened considerably, the main topic of conversation being the world's series to start Oct. 8, still there is considerable attention being given to the last big three game series between the Chicago and Pittsburgh teams to start today. There has been intense rivalry between these two clubs all season, and hotly fought contests are expected. Chance and his men claim that their team is superior to that of the Pirates and only hard luck robbed them of the banner this season. To help prove it the Cubs' great manager says he will take the last three games from Clark's Buccaneers in easy style. On the other hand, Manager Clarke says that after the series is played the results will answer for him. Pittsburgh has posted good, consistent ball all season. The Pirates after a rather bad start went into the lead on May 5, passing Chicago, and have never been beaten since. Chicago pressed Clark's crew pretty closely early in September, only five games separating the leaders at that time. Then by winning three out of four games from the Cubs on their last western trip the New Yorks practically put Chicago out of the pennant race. This in a way was revenge for losing the flag to the Cubs last season, the much heralded "bambooizer."

EXPLORER COOK

Delivered a Lecture in Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook last night in Rensselaer hall, delivered his lecture before a representative Boston audience.

Dr. Cook took occasion to reply to one recent and pertinent query of George K. Lusk in a magazine article, in which the writer claimed Dr. Cook could not take food and fuel supply on two sleds to last 52 days. Dr. Cook said in reply:

"Mr. Lusk started out with the idea that we used pressed muck extract as food for dog and man. If we had, this expedition would have been just for us could not have been a success. From 200 pounds of such extract, which it would have been impossible to carry on two sleds, but we did not have much as food. We had pemmican, and we used one pound of pemmican equal to two pounds of meat. As you will see, that Mr. Lusk's figures are all right when properly applied."

Last night Dr. Cook, in reply to a question, said that he had explored the Arctic coast of North America, and that he had been in the Arctic region for several years.

Dr. Cook left on the regular midnight express for New York over the New York, New Haven and Hartford rail road. He will be in New York on Monday.

Dr. Cook's lecture was given at the request of the Explorers' Club of Boston.

Detroit Team Was Minus Its Stars

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—With Cobb, Crawford and Moriarty out of their regular lineup, the Detroit champions played an indifferent game yesterday and Boston won, 9 to 6. The pitchers took things easy, a total of 35 hits for both teams resulting. Manager Jennings played at first base and made a good impression with the crowd, Lord's batting was a feature. The score:

YOUNG DONAHUE
Had Easy Victory Over Kid Sullivan

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 2.—Young Donahue of Roxbury put away Kid Sullivan of Washington, D. C., in the sixth round last night in the opening bout of the Queen City A. C. An immense crowd turned out. Sullivan was clearly out of condition and was pulled before the fourth round from his exertions. Donahue had an easy time of it, for Sullivan could not penetrate his guard.

Sullivan took the count in the fourth, and it was only a question of opportunity when Donahue could land the finishing blow. Sullivan fought back in the fifth and took the count in the sixth, but was met with a storm of rights and lefts and he dropped to the canvas. His seconds tossed the sponge into the ring. Young Donahue put away Fred Labore in the third round. The fight proved a good one until Labore, stepping aside, was taken out by an instant and McDonough landed on his chin. Young Russell of Nahum and Kid Golden of Lynn fought a six round draw.

A MONUMENT
PLACED OVER GRAVE OF LATE WILLIAM H. ANDERSON

A beautiful monument has been placed over the Anderson lot in the Lowell cemetery. The Anderson lot is on Transum avenue directly opposite the A. P. Bonney lot.

George H. Bissell, a New York sculptor, is the designer of the monument, and he also supervised the work of cutting the marble which was done in the Leland studios in Italy.

The material is light, dove blue, Italian marble, and stands nearly 11 feet in height. The monument is in the shape of a cross, the front side of which is surmounted by a beautiful figure of the angel of the resurrection. The reverse side bears the Christian emblems in light relief, all of which were carefully modeled by Mr. Bissell.

The base bears the inscription "Anderson, an there are five markers, of the same material as the monument."

CUT HIS THROAT

Man Killed His Cell Mate

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—In a quarrel at the county prison at Holmesburg, a suburb, yesterday over the possession of a loaf of bread, Anton Zischlik killed his cellmate, Pietro Grambrano, by slashing his throat with a razor. This was shortly after the prison and a razor was placed in each cell by the keepers. Zischlik said he killed Grambrano in self defense, and that the quarrel was caused by Grambrano taking possession of a loaf of bread given them for breakfast. Both men were serving a short sentence for minor offenses.

This opportunity will be given tomorrow at the vespers service at which time Miss Skilton has consented to tell something of this work of hers, unique in our city. This service promises to be one of unusual interest and appeal for this work is entirely voluntary and so closely touches the life of the whole city that we can doubt the worthiness of the cause or the greatness of the need, and therefore a collection will be taken for Miss Skilton's work.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES
No woman of girl in Lowell should miss the opportunity of hearing about the interesting work of Miss Skilton. This opportunity will be given tomorrow at the vespers service at which time Miss Skilton has consented to tell something of this work of hers, unique in our city. This service promises to be one of unusual interest and appeal for this work is entirely voluntary and so closely touches the life of the whole city that we can doubt the worthiness of the cause or the greatness of the need, and therefore a collection will be taken for Miss Skilton's work.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

T. P. O'Connor, M. P.
and Capt. CondonWITH MR. O'CALLAGHAN TO
SPEAK HEREMeeting at A. O. H. Hall Tomorrow
Evening to Be Addressed by Lawyer
Jordan and Mr. Galvin of Boston.

There will be an important meeting of the United Irish League tomorrow evening in Hibernian hall, when Lawyer M. J. Jordan of Boston will deliver an address on the Irish cause. There will be a musical program in which Joseph Brennan, a local vocalist and humorist, will sing several selections. Mr. Jordan will be accompanied by a young man named Galvin, recently from Ireland, and an eloquent speaker. The league has received a communication from the national president, Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia, in reply to its letter requesting an engagement for John O'Callaghan and Capt. Edward O'Meara, now getting great ovations in Ireland. Mr. Ryan states that T. P. O'Connor, M. P., a well known leader and one of the greatest men in the Irish party, will return to the United States with Messrs. Condon and O'Callaghan, and will come with them to a meeting in Lowell. The reception to these three men promises to be one of the grandest demonstrations of the kind ever held in Lowell. It will be too great to be confined to any one organization, and consequently prominent citizens of all classes, especially those in sympathy with the Irish movement, will be invited to attend and to meet all three gentlemen at a banquet.

Preliminary arrangements for the meeting will be made tomorrow night, and the members of the league, those who belong now or have belonged, are requested to attend in full numbers so that proper steps may be taken to arrange for the reception of the three distinguished gentlemen. The meeting will open promptly at 8 o'clock as Messrs. Jordan and Galvin want to start for Boston as early as possible after delivering their addresses.

VIEWS OF NEW YORK'S HISTORICAL PARADE,
WHICH WAS SEEN BY 2,000,000 PEOPLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The largest crowd ever gathered in this country to see a land parade witnessed the historical pageant of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York. It is estimated that fully 2,000,000 persons actually saw the procession and that 3,000,000 more were deprived of a view of it mainly because of the lack of space. These are stupendous figures, but are borne out by careful estimates made by the police and the city's transportation officials. All street railway records were broken. The subway and elevated lines carried 2,100,000 passengers during the day. Seats on the grand stands along Fifth avenue sold at prices ranging from $1 to $25, and seats in all kinds of vehicles, including trucks and ice wagons, went at still prices. Thousands of small boys did a profitable business in soap boxes to be used as seats. Nearly every furniture store in the greater city sold out its stock of camp stools. Five thousand policemen guarded the line of the parade. The pageant consisted of fifty-four magnificent historical floats constituting a moving picture of 500 years of the history of New York and its vicinity. There were 15,000 persons in the parade, which was officially reviewed by Vice President Sherman, Governor Hughes and the admirals of the international fleet.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 2.—Dr. Cook, the explorer, and Mr. Harry Whitney, the sportsman of this city, were on the train for New York which went through here at 4:35 this morning. Mr. Whitney has gone to New York to get his belongings which were on the Roosevelt, his friend, A. Barber, Hughes of this city, having gone over yesterday to assist Mr. Whitney upon his arrival in getting the various packages ready for shipment to Mr. Whitney's home here.

At Mr. Whitney's home this morning a word had been received from him. Commander Peary went through here on the Bar Harbor express last night for Portland, Me., after one day's visit to New York, most of the hours of which he spent on the Roosevelt.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 2.—Miss Mary Seymour is at her home here today recovering from the shock and injuries inflicted by a big devil fish which nearly drowned her in the surf at Long beach yesterday.

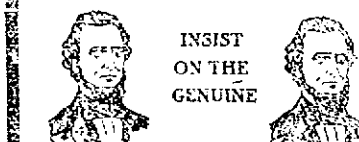

Miss Seymour, who is an expert swimmer, went out beyond the life-line near the pier when the octopus grasped her with its tentacles. Screaming in terror, she struck for one of the pilings of the pier while the monster wound itself about her lower limbs. She managed to lay hold of the pile and her clothes brought her down to her aid. When rescued she had swooned.

500,000 CHILDREN

Took Part in the Hudson-Fulton
Celebration Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Hudson-Fulton celebration closes here today with festivals designed particularly for the school children. There will be a school concert tomorrow, and on Oct. 3 Brooklyn will have a carnival parade similar to that to be given in Manhattan tonight, but without the Half Moon and the Clermont, the inspiration of the celebration having gone up the Hudson and passed to the smaller cities along the banks of the historic stream.

Half a million children today took part in the pageants held in 45 different school districts. There was hardly a park in the city not devoted to this purpose. In each separate celebration of 16 from 7000 to 10,000 children participated.

The pupils have been preparing for this day for months. Each district was left to its own devices as to the subject to be portrayed and the result was a series of pageants illustrating nearly every episode in American history. The weather today was fair, but a fresh breeze dashed the hopes of those who looked for more airship flights. Glenn H. Curtiss spent the night at Governors Island and was out to meet the first streak of dawn, but he quickly announced that the wind was too brisk for a flight and said he would not go up unless it subsided. This is Curtiss' last day here, and his admirers are disappointed at his failure thus far to accomplish anything spectacular. Wilbur Wright did not go to Governors Island until later in the day. He will be here most of next week and he declares that he can afford to wait for favorable conditions before attempting a journey over the untried path up the Hudson.

The celebration commission still hopes that Wright will enable it to fill its prophecy of a flight up the Hudson as far as Grant's tomb and over the anchored warships.

The airship race to Albany in competition for the New York World prize of $10,000 has been declared off and the three dirigibles entered were packed today for shipment to other exhibition points.

The floats which have been shown in Manhattan and Brooklyn were lighted over to Staten Island for the local celebration for the borough of Richmond. The route along Fifth avenue, where two million persons have already seen the historical pageant and a military parade will be the scene of the third street display of the celebration today.

The celebration up the Hudson continued today with the departure of the Half Moon and Clermont from Newburg to visit the cities along the river as far north as Troy.

Tomorrow the 34 warships which have been the glory of the celebration will prepare to depart and a few of them, including the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento and the United States cruiser Prairie, have left already. Tonight the international fleet will be illuminated with thousands of incandescent lights, strung from stern to bow and from water's edge to masthead.

HENRI FERON

Man Accused of Murder Arrived in Lowell Today

Henri Feron, the alleged murderer of Flora Rivers was brought to this city today from Quebec city, Que., by Inspector Charles Laframme of the local police department and State Officer Byrnes. The proceedings connected with the return of Feron from Canada to the United States were accompanied by a great many drawbacks and delays that the officers, as a matter of fact, were unprepared for because they did not know what was coming.

The officers were not aware that besides the papers which they received at Washington, it was necessary for them to get a warrant from the governor general of Canada and they did not know that a prisoner wanted here had to remain 15 days in the custody of the Canadian authorities before being turned over to United States officers.

The process in Canada is a bit slow, even when taken in time, and the warrant from the governor general's office did not reach Quebec city until yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock and three hours later State Officer Byrnes and Inspector Laframme were on their way to Lowell. They came over the Grand Trunk, via Portland, Me.

The officers found Feron very uncommunicative. He admitted that he left Lowell at an early hour in the morning of Aug. 27, and that he went to Nashua. He has not admitted, however, that he was responsible for the death of Flora Rivers. He told the officers that he saw a woman lying there on the floor in the house in Herford place, and that becoming frightened he started for Nashua, to his mother's home.

Feron was working in the woods for his cousin when arrested. That was at St. Sebastian, about 100 miles from Quebec. Asked why he fled to Canada, he said that his friends in Nashua advised him to "skip." He did not resist arrest at all, and in fact he told the officers that he was glad to get away from the old blacksmith shop that was being used as a camp. He said that all he and the rest of the loggers had to eat was bread and potatoes.

Feron presented a decidedly abject appearance as he was being escorted to the police station by the officers today. He admitted that he had received a great deal and his appearance sustained his words. He was thin and emaciated and the fact that he was about ten days shy on a shave

Saugus Man Gets the Nomination for Senator

The seventh Middlesex republican senatorial district convention was held this afternoon at the republican city committee rooms for the purpose of naming a senatorial candidate.

The convention was called to order by George W. Poore and Councilman Thomas W. Baxter of Lynn nominated Mr. Poore as temporary chairman. John W. Hutchings of Saugus nominated Wm. J. Ahearn of Lynn as temporary secretary.

Henry P. Fiske moved that a committee on credentials, consisting of three members, be appointed by the chair. The chair appointed Mr. Fiske chairman, H. L. Chapman of Lowell and George A. Hubbard of Lynn.

The committee on credentials reported that the convention was entitled to 15 delegates from two cities and 15 towns, and that the delegates were present.

The temporary organization was then made permanent.

Ex-Mayor H. W. Eastman of Lynn moved in nomination Frank P. Bennett, Jr., of Saugus, as the candidate for senate by acclamation.

Mr. Bennett was then ushered into the hall. After the applause had subsided Mr. Bennett accepted the nomination.

The next business was that of appointing a member to the state committee.

Mr. James W. Sweetser, of Lynn, named Senator James W. Grimes of Reading. He was chosen by acclamation.

Alonso G. Walsh, of this city, was called upon for a speech by Ex-Mayor Eastman, of Lynn. He said that when he found himself up against a stonewall, he decided to step and that was his reason for dropping out in favor of Mr. Bennett.

"I am a republican and always have been," said Mr. Walsh, after which he urged the delegates present to support Mr. Bennett and the republican party generally.

The suit is said to be for $2000 with interest, alleged to have been paid the defendant, July 27; the mayor claiming that he has not received any proper accounting of same. M. H. Sullivan, of Boston, is counsel for the plaintiff. Mr. Murphy holds the money as trustee for the reason that it is tied up by attachments.

ST. BERNARD DOG

Lived Four Months With Hat Pin in His Stomach

A St. Bernard pup, owned by F. J. Flemings, the Perry street paper dealer, has the distinction of having lived four months with a hat pin 10½ inches long in his intestines. The pin may have discolored him some but it did not affect his health. The case is one that will arouse the interest and excite the curiosity of the medical fraternity, the surgically inclined, and others.

The St. Bernard is eight months old and Mr. Flemings some time ago noticed a swelling back of the last rib. It continued to increase in size and a few days ago Mr. Flemings consulted Dr. W. S. Eaton. He told the doctor that he thought the dog had a decaying rib and the doctor set about to examine it.

He found a small tumor and in order to treat it properly it was necessary to put the dog under control. This he did and applying a local anesthetic he cut an incision about an inch and a half long in the tumor. His history, the instrument which he used in the operation, came in contact with some hard substance that the doctor thought was possibly a broken rib. He soon discovered, however, that there was a steel point to the obstruction and applying his forceps, pulled out a hat pin that measured just ten and a half inches. It was one that Mrs. Flemings had lost about four months ago.

There was not a twist or a bend in the last pin and the doctor says that the case is a most unusual one. "The pin," said the doctor, "passed through the dog's stomach, through his intestines and through every organ in the abdominal cavity. Yet the dog was perfectly healthy. I consider it a very remarkable case and I will send the pin to the veterinary museum in Washington."

THE OMAHA STRIKE

LOST THEIR LOOT

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Three thieves who had been hunting for more spectators made a daring attack on the jewelry store of Bernard Kuhn, 254 Tremont street, corner of Hollis, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and only for an unexpected upsetting of a tray of rings by one of the robbers the proprietor would have suffered a severe financial loss.

The thieves got away through a crowd and when the store-taker had been completely robbed Kuhn reported the loss of rings to the value of $15,000.

The youngest of the trio is about 17 years old, weighs not more than 100 pounds and is about 5 feet 6 inches in height. The third man is about 25 years old, weighs about 150 pounds and is about 5 feet 4 inches in height. All three were dressed in shabby suits of gray material.

The police of division 4 believe they are the men who did a similar job in New York last Wednesday evening.

Manager Gray Pulled Off Auto Races Today

With the recent national stock-class competition auto race still fresh in the minds of the automobile enthusiasts of this city, several hundred persons made their way to the Pawtucketville course this morning to witness the Auto-Race which was held over the specially constructed smooth-paved course in Pawtucketville, between Fourth and Fifth avenues.

The course starts at the corner of Fifth avenue and Monument road, down one side of the latter thoroughfare to Fourth avenue and then up the other side of Monument road to the starting point. The course was in the best of condition and the race was run without any accidents.

Long before the time for the starting of the race approached, both sides of the street as well as vantage points in abutting yards were filled with people. In the meantime the young drivers and their mechanics in their home-made automobiles were tuning the latter up.

By 9:30 o'clock everything was in readiness for the event and from that time until 11:30 o'clock there was nothing but a whizzing of automobiles and wild cheers by the spectators as a favorite driver made a big lead.

The machines were divided into six classes as follows:

TICKET NAMED

Draper and Frothingham Renominated by the Republicans

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—The republicans of Massachusetts, in a smooth and characteristic convention today nominated the following state ticket:

Governor, Eben S. Draper of Hopkinton.

Lieutenant governor, Louis A. Frothingham of Boston.

Secretary of state, William M. O'Connell of Boston.

Treasurer, Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville.

Auditor, Henry E. Turner of Malden.

Attorney general, Dana Malone of Groveland.

The platform adopted endorsed the administration of President Taft and of Gov. Draper, approved the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, and the merchant marine subsidy bill, and declared in favor of referring the question of a federal income tax to the legislature because the state already collects such a tax and the issue of turning the revenue over to the national government, or of levying a double tax is involved.

A resolution offered from the floor of the convention by former speaker of the Massachusetts house, John N. Cole of Andover, that the income tax question be referred to a conference committee composed of the governors of the New England states was referred to the committee on resolutions, but was not reported to the convention.

THE CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Well oiled and with all of its most important parts running perfectly, the republican party machinery of Massachusetts was set in motion at Symphony hall, this city, today, when the annual convention to nominate a state ticket and draw up a party platform, was called to order by George H. Davis of Waltham, chairman of the republican state committee. Previous to the starting of the machinery it was believed that only one part of the mechanism, and that most delicate, a plank in the party platform, might retard its motion. All of the present state executives from governor to auditor were to be renominated and the only matter which had not been settled up to the time of calling the convention to order was the platform plank relating to the income tax proposition. At its convention on Thursday the democratic party incorporated in its platform a plank declaring that only such candidates for public office should be supported who were pledged to a ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment providing for the income tax. It was expected today that John N. Cole of Andover, former speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives, would endeavor on the convention floor to present a resolution endorsing the income tax and placate the convention on record as favoring the proposed amendment. It was generally understood that the committee on resolutions favored leaving the ratification of the proposed amendment in the hands of the incoming legislature rather than blaming the party to debate action in the matter.

Edward N. Curtis of Boston, assistant treasurer of the United States in charge of the sub-treasury at Boston, was the permanent chairman. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was expected to deliver the speech nominating Gov. Eben S. Draper while District Attorney H. Higgins of Middlesex county was to perform a similar service for Lieut. Gov. Louis Frothingham.

After the usual committees had been appointed John N. Cole, of Andover, former speaker of the Massachusetts house, offered a resolution endorsing the proposed action by the convention on the income tax proposition. The resolution which favors the submission of the whole matter to a conference of the governors of the different states of the union was referred by the chairman to the committee on resolutions.

The committee on credentials reported that out of 116 delegates entitled to seats there were 102 present. The report of the committee on permanent organization was accepted and Permanent Chairman Curtis was escorted to the platform amid applause.

When Former Gov. John L. Bates rose to present his report as chair-country will be better served by giving this legislation a fair trial than by agitation for further changes. Therefore, we would discourage the attempts of those dissatisfied men who have always been hostile to that fundamental principle of the republican party, the protection of American industries.

The platform refers to and acknowledges "with gratitude the party's indebtedness to the efforts of our senators and public servants on these matters, and recognize with deep appreciation their growing and salutary influence in the councils of the nation. We also are deeply appreciative of the work of our republican congressmen in obtaining these satisfactory results."

Regarding the merchant marine, the platform commends the action of the senators from Massachusetts and of our republican congressmen in voting for the ocean mail bill which provided for the creation of regular American mail steamship lines where none now exist, direct from our ports to South America, Australia and the Philippines. We believe legislation should be enacted by congress that will provide for an effective method of building up a strong merchant marine.

In closing, the platform states that "the republican party has for 64 years served the commonwealth of Massachusetts as well as the people of the United States, and in the past its record and its principles, confident that the trust reposed in it in the past still continues."

The resolutions as presented by the committee were unanimously adopted.

United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who was seated with a thousand and cheering then rose to place the name of Eben S. Draper in nomination for governor.

The speech of acceptance of Gov. Eben S. Draper in part was as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: I have the very distinguished honor of accepting nomination to the hands of a republican state convention four times previously, three times as lieutenant-governor and twice including today as governor. I appreciate this confidence in me as a candidate. I accept the nomination and will do the best I can to see that your candidates and party are successful at the polls in November. If elected by the people I will do my best to see that the duties of the governor's office shall be executed honestly and well. The last legislature at the state house, overwhelmingly republican, in my opinion made up to the full standards of any that we have had in the past. It passed many wise measures and defeated many unwise ones."

"Among other very important measures that were passed was the bill consolidating the board of education and the industrial commission into a new board of education which, in my opinion will eventually be a great benefit to the cause of industrial education throughout the whole state."

"The bill regulating the use and abuse of automobiles and laying a graded tax so that the commonwealth will collect something like $200,000 a year more from owners of these machines than at present, was passed. In my opinion will be a great benefit to the cause of industrial education throughout the whole state."

"The platform further commends the executive and the general court for its careful scrutiny of all appropriations as a result of which the expenses have not been increased and the state treasury year will be reduced by one million dollars."

"In all his work for the welfare of the commonwealth Gov. Draper has been ably seconded by Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, whose disinterested conscientious and able discharge of his duties has won for him a place high in the esteem of all our citizens."

"The party pledges itself to the continuance of policies and to the careful consideration of every plan or measure that promises to ensure more perfect conditions for the health, happiness and progress of the people."

The platform further states the party is in favor of the conservation of the natural resources of the state. Particularly do we favor as a wise economic policy, it states, such further legislation as may be necessary for the protection of forests and the encouragement of their cultivation. In regard to labor the platform maintains that the republican party has been the true friend of labor throughout all its existence beginning with its initial struggle for the rights of men. "We believe," it says, "that such party is the best friend of labor that makes the conditions such as to create the greatest demand for labor. The republican party does not endorse every cause advocated in labor's name but only such as are consistent with labor's actual rather than its alleged welfare."

Concerning the city of Boston the platform describes the welfare of the commonwealth and its great metropolis as being inseparably joined and committed to the statement that the legislation of the past session of the general court relating to the city of Boston was of an epoch-making character and will result in large benefits.

"The republican party pledges itself cordially join in every earnest effort that shall be made for the advancement of the interests of the capital city of the commonwealth."

About public service corporations the platform says:

"The policy of supervision and regulation of public service corporations is at the present time receiving the most careful attention of the legislature. It is a Massachusetts plan, born of republican legislation and to its further and more complete development we pledge our earnest efforts to the end that the public may have at the minimum of expense and the maximum of intelligent and efficient service."

A paragraph devoted to national affairs states that: "In common with all the people we give our unqualified approval to the administration of President Taft. He spends the wealth of his talents and of his experience effectively in the cause of the nation and the people feel secure with him as their leader."

"The republican party of Massachusetts has always favored an income tax on the principle that the burden of taxation should be distributed so as to bear most heavily upon those best able to sustain it. The question presented to the people of this state is not the question of imposition of an income tax but rather of its disposition or else it is the question of a double income tax. We believe that this question is one that should be decided by the legislature, not as a political issue, but as a practical question having due regard to the relative needs and the sources of revenue of the national and local governments. The discussion of the tariff is highly one. The platform says:

The pledge of the party to revise the tariff was specially redeemed at the special session of congress called for that purpose by President Taft. The reductions in duty made by the Payne act so greatly counterbalance the increases in duty that effectively there is a general downward revision. The revision was made in the interest of no section of the country, but upon broad national lines."

The drafting of the act was the most complex problem ever undertaken by congress. We believe that this act is of more value to the laboring interests of the United States than any measure that has ever been enacted, and that it will bring more prosperity and more comfort to our people than effected in any other act of industrial legislation. We believe that the welfare of the country will be better served by giving this legislation a fair trial than by agitation for further changes. Therefore, we would discourage the attempts of those dissatisfied men who have always been hostile to that fundamental principle of the republican party, the protection of American industries.

A DISASTROUS FIRE

PITTSBURG, Oct. 2.—A fire, which threatened to destroy an entire square in the south side section of the city, broke out shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Within a short time the warehouses of the MacBeth-Evans Glass Co., and the Patterson Coal and Supply Co. were burned. The flames spread rapidly, and also burning a number of freight cars standing on the tracks of the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad, reached the Wolfe Brush Co. and a large lumber yard.

THIRTY PERSONS RESCUED

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—More than thirty persons, men, women and children, were rescued from the hotel Regent, a fashionable apartment hotel in the Back Bay district early today. Three women were so badly overcome as to require medical attention but all will recover. A crack in the main gas pipe in the basement of the house had allowed the gas to escape.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Refusal of Miss Phoebe Armstrong, 28, to marry Charles Miller, a stationary engineer, aged 50, terminated in a double tragedy at the boarding house at 519 Rush street, early today. Apparently Miss Armstrong was shot as she slept. Miller is believed to have shot the young woman and then ended his own life.

SUDDEN DEATH

Under Circumstances That Warrant Inquiry

Mrs. Jean L. Boucher died suddenly at her home, 630 Merrimack street, yesterday. She fell in a fainting fit while performing her household duties and her little daughter immediately summoned the physician and priest, Dr. Bellemur and Rev. F. Ouellette. O. M. L., arrived promptly, but the woman was dead upon their arrival. At about the time of the woman's death her husband was arrested for drunkenness. There were certain circumstances connected with the case that caused Dr. Bellemur to notify the medical examiner, and the remains were removed to Undertaker Albert's where they were examined last evening by Medical Examiner Meigs. The latter declined to make a statement at that time, but stated that there were grounds for an investigation.

The deceased leaves her husband, four children, James, Annette, Beatrice and Albert, this last an infant of four weeks; her father, Alfred Laurendeau of Lawrence, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Lafleur of Lawrence and Mrs. Michael Mayotte of this city.

Why You Should Buy Stock and Make a Lot of Money in LIQUID GAS

It is a Massachusetts corporation.
It has a small capitalization.
Its stock is all common.
Full paid and non-assessable.
Three-fifths of the stock in the treasury.
The officers are not under salary.
It has a solid foundation.
It is not an experiment.
It is in practical commercial use abroad.
It will be used by the great public, not by a special class.
It is a necessity; the market is waiting anxiously to be served.
It is fully protected by patents.
It has the endorsement of many of the best chemists and gas experts and mechanics.
At international exhibits abroad it has been awarded many diplomas and medals.
Be sure to ask for our literature. Read carefully the government report; also the circular on LIQUID GAS as an investment.
The U. S. government says through the bureau of manufactures, department of commerce and labor, (among other things): "The success of the Bassersdorf factory has demonstrated the fact that LIQUID GAS can be manufactured in competition with coal gas and electricity."
"The demand for its product keeps the plant running full capacity day and night."
"The tubes containing the materials are accepted by the railways and other carrying companies without restrictions or special provisions."

The people who bought the stock of the following companies when first started have made tremendous profits:

THE WELSHBACH MANTLE.
NUMEROUS LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES.
ASCETELINE GAS.
GAS AND ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANIES.
THE BURROUGHS ADDING MACHINE
THE GILLETTE RAZOR.
THE MUNSEY MAGAZINE.
THE LINO TYPE MACHINE.
THE BELL TELEPHONE.
THE DRAPER CO.
THE BROMO SELTZER.

YOUNG DONAHUE RED SOX WON

Had Easy Victory Over Detroit Team Was Minus Its Stars

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 2.—Young Donahue of Roxbury put away Kid Sullivan of Washington, D. C., in the sixth round last night in the opening bout of the Queen City A. C. An immense crowd turned out. Sullivan was clearly out of condition and was pulled before the fourth round from his exertions. Donahue had an easy time of it, for Sullivan could not penetrate his guard.

Sullivan took the count in the fourth, and it was only a question of opportunity when Donahue could land the finishing blow. Sullivan fought back hard in the fifth and took the count again. He started out in the sixth in decisive fashion, but was met with a storm of rights and lefts and was dropped to the canvas. His seconds tossed the sponge into the ring. Young McDonough put away Fred Labaree in the third round. The fight proved a good one until Labaree, stepping, dropped his guard for an instant and McDonough landed on his chin. Young Russell of Nashua and Kid Golden of Lynn fought a six round draw.

EXPLORER COOK

Delivered a Lecture in Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, last night, in Symphony hall, delivered his lecture before a representative Boston audience.

Dr. Cook took occasion to reply to one recent and pertinent query of George Kennan in a magazine article in which the writer claimed Dr. Cook could not take sufficient food supply on two sledges to last 82 days. Dr. Cook said in reply:

"Mr. Kennan started out with the idea that we used pressed mink as meat as food for dog and man. If we had, his criticism would have been just, for we could not have lived on less than 5000 pounds of such meat, which it would have been impossible to carry on two sledges. But we did not have mink or seal. We had pemmican, and we used one pound, per man, per dog, per day. One pound of pemmican is equal to five pounds of fresh meat, so you will see that Mr. Kennan's figures are all right when properly applied."

Last night Dr. Cook included Peary's name in the list of intrepid explorers who had preceded him to the far north. Dr. Cook declared the western world was taken in order that if the expedition failed to reach the pole he would at least have had the satisfaction of exploring a new country.

A MONUMENT

PLACED OVER GRAVE OF LATE WILLIAM H. ANDERSON

A beautiful monument has been placed over the Anderson lot in the Lowell cemetery. The Anderson lot is on Tennyson avenue directly opposite the A. P. Bonney lot.

George E. Bissell, a New York sculptor, is the designer of the monument and he also supervised the work of cutting the marble, which was done in the Leiland studios in Italy.

The material is light dove blue, Italian marble, and stands nearly 11 feet in height. The monument is in the shape of a cross, the front side of which is ornamented by a beautiful figure of the angel of the resurrection. On the marble, which was done in the Leiland studios in Italy, are the Christian emblems in high relief, some of which were carefully modeled by Mr. Bissell.

The base bears the inscription "Anderson," an effigy are five markers, of the same material as the monument.

WON VICTORY

COURT DECIDES IN FAVOR OF "CUT RATE" DRUGGISTS

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—"Cut rate" druggists won a victory today through a decision handed down by Judge H. H. Miller of the local common pleas court. W. B. Freeman, suit No. 10,000 damages, Freeman alleged a contract with Miller in which the latter was bound not to sell any of the Freeman product to any druggist who would sell at less than a retail price specified by the manufacturer. Miller sold a quantity of the Freeman preparation to a Cincinnati "cut rate" drug firm.

Miller demurred to the suit, alleging the contract with Freeman was in violation of the Valentine anti-trust law. Judge H. H. Miller sustained the demurrer, declaring the contract was in restraint of trade against public policy and a clear violation of the law.

MATHIEU FOUND

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 2.—Hubert Mathieu, indicted by the grand jury on two counts of embezzlement from Court Laval, Catholic order of Foresters, has been found in Duluth, Minn., and Sheriff F. K. Ramsey and Sergt. John T. O'Dowd of the local police force left last night to bring him back for trial.

Mathieu formerly ran a library in this city at 1221 Elm street and was prominent in French Catholic fraternal organizations. He was treasurer of Court Laval, C. O. F., and some time before his sudden departure from this city was, it is alleged, found short in his accounts.

He was given repeated warnings by the officers of the society, who set Aug. 31 as the date for him to have his accounts straightened out for inspection. On Aug. 10, it is alleged, that in addition to the amounts he had previously obtained he went to the financial secretary of the branch, with an order on him for certain sums then in his possession, and having obtained them he left the city.

The total amount believed to have been taken from the society is $362.50. In addition to several of his friends state he came to them about that time with a very probable tale of a rich relative out west having just died, bequeathing him a fortune, and that he succeeded in obtaining $300 or $400 on the strength of his supposed inheritance.

After his disappearance, when the Guaranty Fidelity company of Baltimore, Md., who bonded him for the office of treasurer, was called upon to make good the loss, the concern employed detectives to find Mathieu and with the aid of Sergt. O'Dowd found him in Duluth.

Chief Healey has telegraphed the chief of police of Duluth to take Mathieu into custody, and he will be waiting when the New Hampshire authorities reach there.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

T. P. O'Connor, M. P.
and Capt. CondonWITH MR. O'CALLAGHAN TO
SPEAK HEREMeeting at A. O. H. Hall Tomorrow
Evening to Be Addressed by Lawyer
Jordan and Mr. Galvin of Boston.

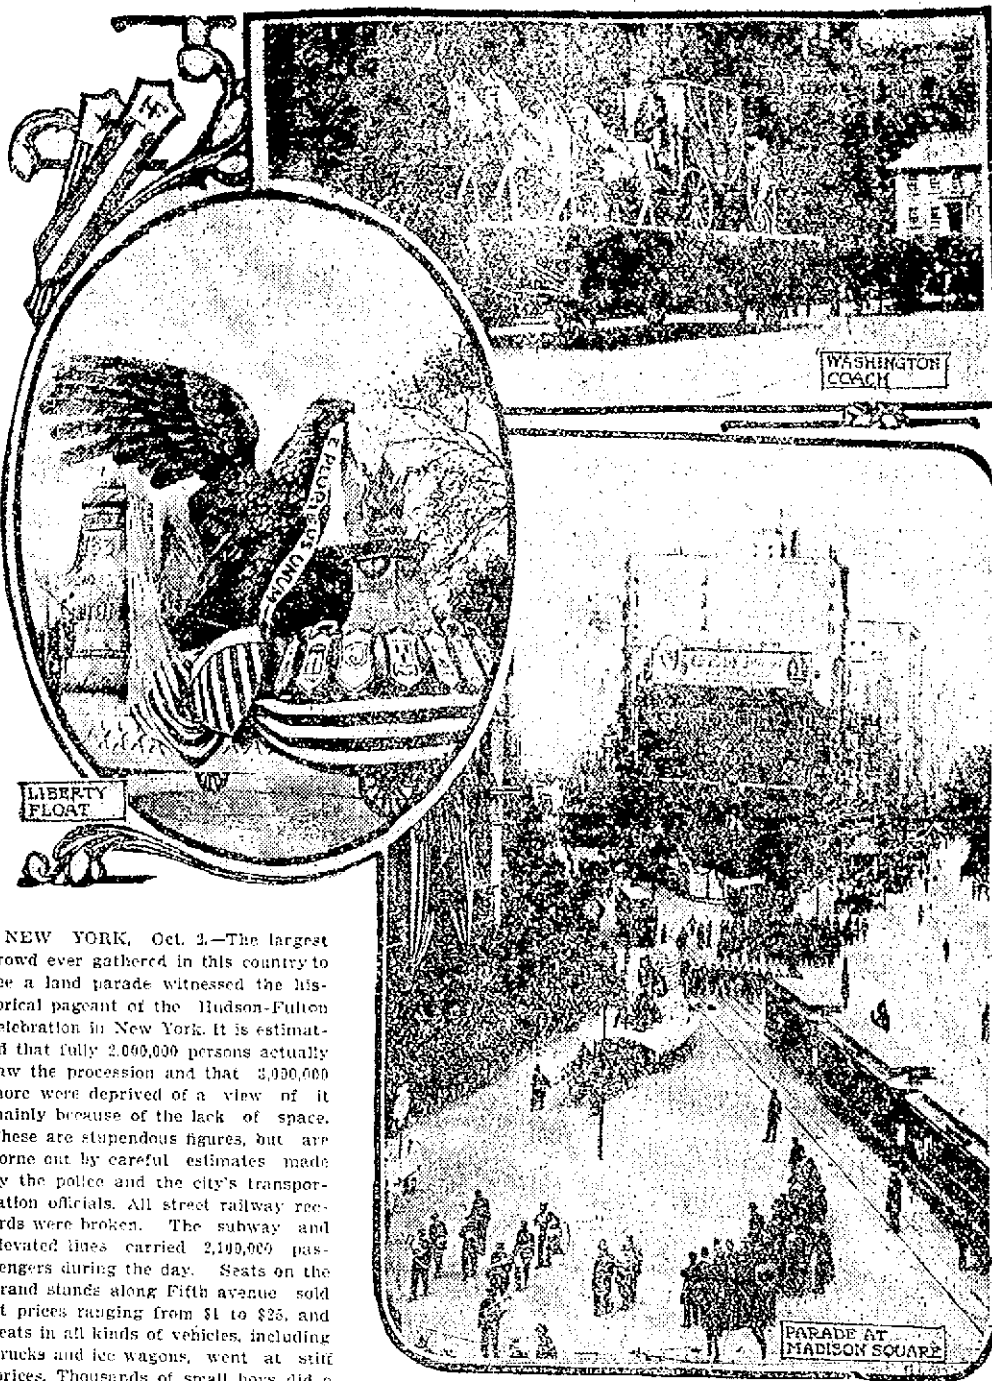

There will be an important meeting of the United Irish League tomorrow evening in Hibernian hall, when Lawyer M. J. Jordan of Boston will deliver an address on the Irish cause. There will be a musical program in which Joseph Brennan, a local vocalist and humorist, will sing several selections. Mr. Jordan will be accompanied by a young man named Galvin, recently from Ireland, and an eloquent speaker.

The league has received a communication from the national president, Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia, in reply to its letter requesting an engagement for John O'Callaghan and Capt. Edward O'Meara Condon, now getting great ovations in Ireland. Mr. Ryan states that T. P. O'Connor, M. P., a well known leader and one of the greatest men in the Irish party, will return to the United States with Messrs. Condon and O'Callaghan, and will come with them to a meeting in Lowell. The reception to these three men promises to be one of the grandest demonstrations of the kind ever held in Lowell. It will be too great to be confined to any one organization, and consequently prominent citizens of all classes, especially those in sympathy with the Irish movement, will be invited to attend and to meet all three gentlemen at a banquet.

Preliminary arrangements for the meeting will be made tomorrow night, and the members of the league, those who belong now or have belonged, are requested to attend in full numbers so that proper steps may be taken to arrange for the reception of the three distinguished gentlemen mentioned. The meeting will open promptly at 8 o'clock as Messrs. Jordan and Condon want to start for Boston as early as possible after delivering their addresses.

THE MARATHON RUN

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—No stimulant will be permitted for runners in the annual Marathon run of the Illinois Athletic club today. VIEWS OF NEW YORK'S HISTORICAL PARADE,
WHICH WAS SEEN BY 2,000,000 PEOPLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The largest crowd ever gathered in this country to see a land parade witnessed the historical pageant of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York. It is estimated that fully 2,000,000 persons actually saw the procession and that 3,000,000 more were deprived of a view of it mainly because of the lack of space. These are stupendous figures, but are borne out by careful estimates made by the police and the city's transportation officials. All street railway records were broken. The subway and elevated lines carried 2,100,000 passengers during the day. Seats on the grand stands along Fifth avenue sold at prices ranging from $1 to $35, and seats in all kinds of vehicles, including trucks and ice wagons, went at still prices. Thousands of small boys did a profitable business in soap boxes to be used as seats. Nearly every furniture store in the greater city sold out its stock of camp stools. Five thousand policemen guarded the line of the parade. The pageant consisted of fifty-four magnificent historical floats, constituting a moving picture of 300 years of the history of New York and its vicinity. There were 15,000 persons in the parade, which was officially reviewed by Vice President Sherman, Governor Hughes and the admirals of the international fleet.

Cook and Whitney Did Was Nearly Drowned by Devil Fish

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 2.—Dr. Cook, the explorer, and Mr. Harry Whitney, the sportsman of this city, were on the train for New York which went through here at 1:15 this morning. Mr. Whitney has gone to New York to get his belongings which were on the Roosevelt, his friend A. Purdette Hughes of this city, having gone over yesterday to assist Mr. Whitney upon his arrival in getting the various packages ready for shipment to Mr. Whitney's home here.

At Mr. Whitney's home this morning no word had been received from him. Commander Perry went through here on the Port Harbor express last night for Portland, Me. After one-day's visit to New York, most of the hours of which he spent on the Roosevelt.

Miss Seymour, who is an expert swimmer, went out beyond the life-line near the pier when the octopus grasped her with its tentacles. Screaming in terror, she struck for one of the pilings of the pier while the monster wound itself about her lower limbs. She managed to lay hold of the pile and her shrieks brought lifesavers to her aid. When rescued she had swooned.

500,000 CHILDREN

Took Part in the Hudson-Fulton
Celebration Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Hudson-Fulton celebration closes here today with festivals designed particularly for the school children. There will be a sacred concert tomorrow, and on Oct. 3 Brooklyn will have a carnival parade similar to that to be given in Manhattan tonight, but without the Half Moon and the Clermont, the inspiration of the celebration having gone up the Hudson and passed to the smaller cities along the banks of the historic stream.

Half a million children today took part in the pageants held in 46 different school districts. There was hardly a park in the city not devoted to this purpose. In each separate celebration of 46 from 3000 to 10,000 children paraded.

The pupils have been preparing for this day for months. Each district was left to its own devices as to the subject to be portrayed and the result was a series of pageants illustrating nearly every episode in American history. The weather today was fair, but a fresh breeze dashed the hopes of those who looked for more shipboard flights. Glenn H. Curtiss spent the night at Governors Island and was out to meet the first streak of dawn, but he quickly announced that the wind was too brisk for a flight and he would not go up unless it subsided. This is Curtiss' last day here, and his admirers are disappointed at his failure thus far to accomplish anything spectacular. Wilbur Wright did not go to Governors Island until later in the day. He will be here most of next week and he declares that he can afford to wait for favorable conditions before attempting a journey over the untried path up the Hudson.

The celebration commission still hopes that Wright will enable it to fulfill its prophecy of a flight up the Hudson as far as Grant's tomb and over the anchored warships.

petition for the New York World prize of $10,000 has been declared off and the three dirigibles entered were packed today for shipment to other exhibition points.

The floats which have been shown in Manhattan and Brooklyn were lighted over to Staten Island for the local celebration for the borough of Richmond. The route along Fifth avenue, where two million persons have already seen the historical pageant and a military parade will be the scene of the third street display of the celebration today.

The celebration up the Hudson continued today with the departure of the Half Moon and Clermont from Newburg to visit the cities along the river as far north as Troy.

Tomorrow the 51 warships which have been the glory of the celebration will prepare to depart and a few of them, including the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento and the United States cruiser Prairie, have left already. Tonight the international fleet will be illuminated with thousands of incandescent lights, strung from stern to bow and from water's edge to masthead.

Program of Out-Door Religious Exercises Tomorrow Afternoon

The Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Parish Will be Observed at 10.30—Laying of Corner Stone and Confirmation in Afternoon—Big Street Parade in Honor of Archbishop O'Connell

Tomorrow will be a memorable day in the history of the Sacred Heart parish for then will the clergy and parishioners observe the 25th anniversary of the parish, the 15th anniversary of the pastor, Rev. Terence W. Smith, O. M. I., the laying of the corner stone of the new parish school by Archbishop O'Connell and the administration by that prelate of the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 200 boys and girls of the Sacred Heart parish and the smaller parishes of Billerica and North Chatham.

The occasion will also be marked by a reception by the Hibernians of Lowell and other local Catholic societies to His Grace the Archbishop of Boston who will be escorted to the church in the afternoon by a large procession of the societies with two bands of music.

For several months plans for this important celebration have been under way and the date was set back slightly so that the corner stone exercises might also be held.

Elaborate preparations have been completed and with fair weather the occasion will be one of the most interesting religious observances ever held in this city.

The anniversary exercises will be held in the morning when John P. Reynolds, O. M. I., of Buffalo, N. Y., a former pastor of the Sacred Heart church, assisted by Rev. William P. Finnicks, of Marlboro, Mass., a native of the parish, and Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church. There will also be present at the mass many local and out-of-town clergymen. Rev. Fr. Finnicks will preach the anniversary sermon.

The interior of the church has been decorated in the afternoon with paper colors, while the altar decorations will consist of a wealth of flowers and tropical plants and myriads of lights.

The music will be of a particularly impressive order and will be given by the organ choir of 15 voices and a choir of 15 male chorists. The music will be directed by Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon who will also preside at the organ. The musical program will be as follows:

Asperges ..... Gregorian plain chant
Kyrie ..... Gregorian plain chant
Credo ..... Gregorian plain chant
Sanctus ..... Gregorian plain chant
Gloria ..... Gregorian plain chant
Benedictus ..... Gregorian plain chant
Agnus Dei ..... Gregorian plain chant

Intended by Martin Maguire and Henry Curry and a chorus of 15 male chorists.

Before the sermon Handel's "Veni Creator" will be sung by Mr. Martin Maguire and at the offering "Te igitur" will be sung by Mrs. Muldoon, assisted by the full choir.

The Corner Stone Exercises

The corner stone exercises and the confirmation service will take place in the afternoon. The corner stone will be laid at the southwest corner of the building at the corner of Moore and Andrews street and the receptacle into which the stone is to be placed will contain the usual articles and data. His Grace the Archbishop will be assisted in the service by Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I., Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O. M. I., Rev. Robert Barrett, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I., all of the Sacred Heart parish and the visiting clergymen. A temporary platform has been erected over the foundation and this has been decorated with the national and papal colors.

The officiating prelate and clergymen will assemble on the platform from which the archbishop, at the close of the service, will address the parishioners.

The archbishop will be met at Davis Square at 2 o'clock by the societies and will be escorted to the church by a street parade as follows:

Platoon of Police
O. M. I. Corps
Lowell Military Band
Five Divisions Ancient Order of Hibernians
Knights of Columbus
Delegations From Other Catholic Societies
Mathew Temperance Institute
American Band
Holy Name Society, Sacred Heart Parish
His Grace Archbishop O'Connell in barouche with Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I., and other clergymen.

Upon arrival at the church His Grace will immediately administer confirmation. During this service the children's choir will sing the hymns, "Come Holy Ghost" and "Dear Sacred Heart."

At the conclusion of the church service all will retreat to the streets in front of the church for the out-door exercises.

Choir of 400 Voices

A feature of the corner stone exercises will be the singing of the hymns "America," "Hymn to the Pope," and "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," by a choir of children, accompanied by the American band, James A. Murphy, band director. The children have been carefully trained by Mrs. Muldoon and the sisters of the parochial school and their part of the exercises promises to be most inspiring.

Anniversary Souvenir

Rev. Fr. Smith, the zealous pastor of the Sacred Heart church, has designed a most attractive souvenir for the occasion which will be on sale at the church, the proceeds going to the school building fund. The souvenir consists of a large cluster of beautifully executed portraits, the centerpiece being a fine half tone of the church with the inscription "Silver Jubilee, Sacred Heart Church, Lowell, Mass." On either side of the center picture are portraits of the late Archbishop Williams and his successor, Archbishop O'Connell. At the top are portraits of the four former pastors, Rev. W. B. Joyce, O. M. I., Rev. J. Lavoie, O. M. I., Rev. J. M. Guillard, O. M. I., and Rev. J. P. Reynolds, O. M. I. At the bottom are the portraits of the present pastor, Rev. Fr. Smith, and his three curates, Rev. Fr. Fletcher, Barrett and Tighe. Fr. Smith spent considerable time in a search for portraits of the late Fr. Lavoie and Guillard, but located them in time to get out the beautiful souvenir for tomorrow's observance.

The new building, when completed will be a three-story structure with a main entrance on Moore street facing the church and another on the north side. The first story of the building will be of rock ashlar and the second and third stories will be of red brick with blue stone trimmings. The cornice will be of copper and the roof of copper and tin.

The basement will contain the boiler room and coal bins, locker rooms, toilet, shower baths, play rooms and cold air rooms, and a serving room for suppers and entertainments. A subway will connect the basement with the main floor and the latter will be fitted up as a gymnasium and play room for the different societies and sodalities of the parish.

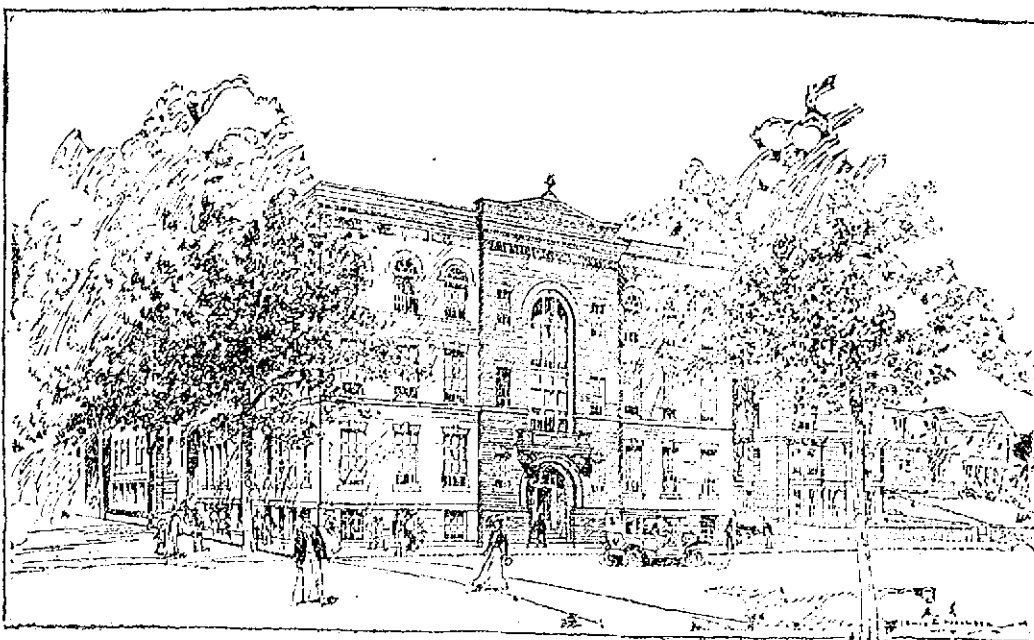

The first floor will contain four classrooms, principals and teachers' rooms, corridor and boys' toilet. The second floor will have four large dress rooms, three bedrooms and a toilet for girls. The third floor will contain the assembly hall and ante rooms and will be fitted with a stage adequate for dramatic entertainments, parties, assemblies, etc. The floors and walls of the toilets on the first and second floors will be finished with the red tile, and the heating will be done according to the laws and requirements of the state police. There will be installed two lines of stand pipe from the first floor to the hall, equipped with hose and nozzle, so that the building will be well equipped in case of fire. The interior finish throughout will be of North Carolina pine with red hard pine floors. The walls and ceilings are to be of hard finish and to be tinted. The brick work will be finished November 1 and the building will be occupied before the winter weather arrives. When the new building is completed the old school house will be used for school purposes on the first floor only, while the other rooms will be devoted to the uses of the different parish societies.

History of Parish

The Oblate Fathers took charge of the Sacred Heart parish at the request of Archbishop Williams, who had in view, besides the erection of the parish, the spiritual care of the immigrants of the City Hospital.

On the 14th of April, 1884, the first mass was celebrated and so the erection of the Sacred Heart church was solemnly inaugurated by Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I., afterwards superior general of the Oblate congregation and then to presiding the superior general as visitor to the United States and Canada.

Following June 1, a fair was held to raise funds for the church. It netted $6000. The work on the basement was vigorously pushed and the following August it was in readiness to suit admirably the needs of the parish. It is lofty, bright and airy and has a seating capacity of about 250. On the 10th of August, 1884, it was solemnly blessed by Archbishop Williams and Rev. Father Joyce was appointed its first pastor.

The care of the City Hospital became a very important and arduous (though unremunerated) part of the parish work of the pastor of the Sacred Heart and his assistant. The City Hospital, or poor farm, as it is often called, is in the Sacred Heart parish and there are sheltered all forms of indigent misery. It had its almshouse for the sick and needy, its workhouse at that time for males and females sent from the police court, its reform school for juvenile delinquents, its maternity hospital, its insane asylum, and its smallpox hospital. It may be seen that the calls to the City farm are frequent and come at all hours. The father in charge visits the City farm twice a week to attend to the sick and gives the Catholic inmates Holy Mass on Sunday. Surely in this work the Oblate Fathers are true to their motto "Pauperes evangelizant."

Though not as imposing as several other Lowell churches, the Sacred Heart church is very beautiful and devotional. The fine impressive stations of the cross, nearly all the gift of members or societies of the parish, and the many statues that adorn the upper and lower church inspire devotion. The style of the church is the Renaissance. A prominent clergyman who has visited the Sacred Heart church pronounces it a complete counterpart on a small scale of a celebrated Catholic church in Rome, in design, ornamentation and general effect, the windows alone excepted. The windows are remarkable for the fact that they are all of American glass and they show the progress made in the attainment of classical effects. Most of them are memorial windows, the gift of generous parishioners. The window in memory of Father Joyce, the first pastor, is the gift of the Immaculate Conception parish of Lowell in charge of the Oblate Fathers. The smaller stained glass windows that adorn the sacristy and stairways are also gifts of generous donors, including the altar boys, the Children of the Holy Angels' sodality, and of the Parochial and Sunday schools.

One of the most important events in the history of the parish took place August 27, 1892, when six Sisters of St. Mary from Lockport, N. Y., came to take charge of the Sacred Heart school. September 12, 1892, the Sacred Heart school, built by the zealous indefatigable Father Guillard, opened with an attendance of 106. The average attendance now is over 600, and the sisters in charge number twelve. This shows not only the development of the parish but also the great sacrifices required by pastor and people to purchase land for a school, to build a school, and to maintain it.

When the nuns came in 1892 their convent was in readiness for them. In the summer of 1891 an addition was put to the convent required by the steadily increasing staff.

The laying of the corner stone of the upper church in the summer of 1895 was a grand event in the history of the parish. An immense platform was erected in front of the church. A band was in attendance and a union of all the city choirs. Fully 2000 people with Mayor Courtney, the city government and the reverend clergy gathered under the big canopy intended as a protection. Unfortunately, a cyclone arose and drove everybody into the basement. The following morning with less solemnity the corner stone was set in place.

On November, 1895, Fr. Reynolds, who had been assistant with Fr. Guillard, became pastor. His zealous assistant, Fr. McElroy, greatly endeavored himself to the people. Both together had to solve an immense financial problem, to finish the interior of the church, in less than a year. They succeeded in the end in their plan.

On Sunday, Sept. 29, 1901, Feast of St. Michael, the Sacred Heart church was completed, was solemnly dedicated.

called by Rt. Rev. William H. O'Connell, D. D., Bishop of Portland, Me. Rt. Rev. Edward Joseph Dunn, bishop of Dallas, Tex., Rt. Rev. Edward P. Allen, bishop of Mobile, Ala., and 60 priests attended the celebration. The preacher of the occasion was Rev. Michael P. Fallon, O. M. I., then pastor of Holy Angels, New York. At five o'clock in the afternoon Bishop O'Connell administered the sacrament of Confirmation to 200 children.

One year afterwards a terrible explosion occurred at the magazine of the U. S. Cartridge company, one mile distant, completely destroying windows of the upper church and basement, and with other damage entailing a loss of $5000. Things were put in former condition at once, the Cartridge company paying half the damage and the people generously responding for the other half.

Oct. 1, 1905, Fr. Reynolds left for the Immaculate Conception parish of Lowell and was replaced by Rev. T. W. Smith. Shortly before Fr. Reynolds left, 24,000 square feet of land were acquired in the rear of the church to protect it from encroaching industries. The Sacred Heart parish has been blessed with an unbroken succession of able, devoted pastors—Fathers William D. Joyce, Joseph T. Lavoie, Joseph M. Guillard, John P. Reynolds, and Terence W. Smith—each remarkably successful in his own way. A fruitful result of their successful administration is constantly visible in the hearty co-operation which the men, women and children of the parish give when something is to be done for the benefit of the church or school. So the school entertainments, ever highly interesting, are well patronized and yearly realize a handsome sum for the school. The painstaking efforts of the young ladies who every month collect the offerings of the members of the Church Debt and carry out of great assistance. The grand annual entertainments given by the sodalities of the church add considerably to the funds of the church. But the most pleasing and striking proof of the good will and generous support of the people of the Sacred Heart parish is seen in the grand annual parish reunion, which fails not to fill the largest available public hall of the city with a joyous throng of young and old, who come to patronize the tasty booths for candy, refreshments, etc., and to enjoy the well prepared entertainments given by the musical and dramatic youthful artists of the parish.

Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I., is at present the well beloved pastor of the Sacred Heart parish, and it was through his efforts and under his direction that the plans were perfected for the erection of the beautiful school building, the corner stone of which will be laid tomorrow.

Among the former curates of the Sacred Heart church were the following: Rev. John McElroy, O. M. I., Rev. Daniel Burns, O. M. I., Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., Rev. T. Murphy, O. M. I., Rev. J. P. O'Brien, O. M. I., Rev. J. H. Quinn, O. M. I. and Rev. Fr. Emery, O. M. I.

LAKE COMMERCE

Business Done During August

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Lake commerce during the month of August, 1909, as indicated by the figures of total domestic shipments from all lake ports, was larger than during any month for which reports have been received by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. The August shipments in the domestic trade of all kinds of merchandise aggregated 12,343,037 net tons, compared with 10,695,443 net tons shipped during August 1908, and 12,125,453 net tons shipped during August, 1907, the latter figure being the largest monthly total heretofore recorded by the bureau. The unusually large shipments of iron ore are mainly responsible of grain and flaxseed were below the August shipments for the last year, and the same is true of the combined hard and soft coal shipments for the month.

The domestic shipments during August of iron ore, 6,947,506 gross tons, were 45 per cent. larger than the corresponding August, 1908, figures, and even show a large gain over the heavy August, 1907, shipments of 6,520,253 gross tons. The total for August, 1909, gross tons are credited to the ports of Duluth and Superior, while 1,551,577 gross tons were shipped from Two Harbors. The season shipments, up to August 31, aggregated 22,228,006 gross tons, or almost double those reported for the corresponding period in 1908, and only about 2 million tons below the record shipments during the corresponding period in 1907. It is notable that the combined shipments for the three summer months of the present year, 18,225,527 gross tons, were heavier than the like shipments for the same months in 1907. The iron ore receipts during the month of August, 1909, aggregated 5,670,164 gross tons, of which 1,360,120 gross tons are credited to Ashland, 1,213,024 gross tons to Conneaut, 925,063 gross tons to Cleveland, and 924,018 gross tons to Buffalo and the Tonawandas. The season receipts for the month of August, 1909, aggregated 1,167,145 gross tons, while the receipts at the same three ports for the eight months are given as 9,991,632 gross tons, or 18.9 per cent. of the total iron ore discharged at all lake ports during the eight months of the present season.

The shipments of soft coal during the month, mainly from Lake Erie ports, 2,171,324 net tons, while somewhat heavier than for July, fell about 150,000 tons short of the August, 1908, shipments. Over one-half of the total quantity shipped went to Milwaukee, Duluth and Superior. The shipments of hard coal, mainly from Buffalo, Erie and Oswego, 471,965 net tons, were also lower than during the corresponding month in 1907 and 1908, the three main receiving ports being Chicago, Milwaukee and Superior.

The monthly receipts of lumber shipped were fairly heavy, the total for August amounting to 153,185 M feet, being, however, about 45,000 M feet below the August, 1907, shipments. The largest receiving ports for lumber are Chicago, North Tonawanda, Ludington, Buffalo, Detroit, Frankfort and Cleveland. While the season shipments were considerably larger than during the last year, the general tendency of a diminishing supply of lumber from the regions adjacent to the Great Lakes is unmistakable if the figures for the present season are compared with those for the earlier years ending with 1907.

The monthly wheat shipments, chiefly from Chicago, show the unusually small total of 3,159,668 bushels; the shipments from Duluth-Superior, in former years the main forwarding ports, showing greatly reduced totals. The season shipments of wheat, 14,253,617 bushels, were 24 per cent. less than during the corresponding period in 1908 and over 10 million bushels short of the eight months' shipments in 1907. Corn shipments for the month, 3,368,551 bushels, likewise show a smaller total than during the preceding year. The monthly shipments of oats, 1,027,620 bushels, were heavier, while those of barley, 244,858 bushels, and of flaxseed, 233,600 bushels, were lower than a year ago. The total grain and flaxseed shipments for the month and season, 5,063,597 and 45,824,463 bushels, fell below like 1908 shipments. The August movement of unclassified, mainly package freight, 978,245 net tons, shows a considerable increase over the August, 1908, figures, especially by large gains being shown for a number of smaller shipping ports, such as Sandusky, Grand Haven, Erie and Ludington.

The August lake vessel movement in the domestic trade as measured by the number and tonnage of vessels departing from the various lake ports aggregated 11,274 vessels of 13,851,650 net tons register, showing the largest monthly tonnage in the domestic trade ever reported to the bureau of statistics, Duluth, Chicago and Buffalo, each showing an outward tonnage for the month in excess of one million. The lake movement to the end of August, 45,023 vessels of 62,135,743 net tons register, are not far below the corresponding 1907 total of 47,006 vessels of 60,939,731 net tons register. There can be little doubt that, at the present rate of movement, the end of the season will show a large vessel movement (that for any previous year).

Similar gains are shown in the merchandise and vessel movements through the canals at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, and Ontario, Canada. The freight tonnage locked through the canals during August, 9,885,223 net tons, exceeded all previous monthly records. The main arrivals, however, only in the figures of eastbound freight, chiefly of iron ore. The wheat shipments, owing to the smaller quantities dispatched from the head of the lakes, show the monthly small total of 1,498,744 bushels. The movement of grain other than wheat, 2,568,821 bushels, on the other hand, compares favorably with the August, 1908, total, though being 19.7 per cent. below the total reported for August, 1907.

PEARY WILLING

To Submit Records to a Commission

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dr. Cook's refusal to submit his observations, notes and other data at once to a competent American scientific commission is all that stood in the way of compliance with the suggestion of the National Geographic society yesterday that such a step by both Cook and Peary should precede any official recognition of the explorer's claims.

Correspondence made public here last night shows that Commander Peary has already formally signified his willingness to comply with this condition, but Dr. Cook in a letter to Archer Huntington, president of the American Geographical society, has declared that he will continue in his determination to have all his records and instruments first before the University of Copenhagen.

According to the announcement made here last night, Professor Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins university, was asked several days ago by Henry P. Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, and by Mr. Huntington, to appoint by virtue of his authority as president of the National Academy of Science, a committee of astronomers, geographers and zoologists, to whom the records of Peary and Cook should be submitted. Dr. Remsen, in reply, telegraphed:

"It would be idle for me to appoint a committee to investigate the North pole problem unless it were clearly understood that Commander Peary and Dr. Cook are willing to submit their evidence to such a committee. If they are willing to do so I shall not hesitate to appoint such a committee as you suggest."

Mr. Osborn at once took steps to obtain the consent of Peary and Cook. He received the following dispatch from General Thomas H. Hubbard, on behalf of Commander Peary:

"Peary willing and desirous to submit all his records and data to National Academy committee or other scientific impartially selected."
Dr. Cook at first felt in with the suggestion, which was put before him by Mr. Huntington, but later reconsidered the matter, saying that "Following the Danish investigation, the record will be sent to all the geographical societies of the world, after which it becomes public property."

VESSEL SEIZED

The Captain and Crew Imprisoned

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 2.—Seizure of the fishing schooner Caldwel H. Colt, of seventy tons, the imprisonment of Captain Joseph Galtier and his crew of seven men has been reported by a Mexican gunboat, according to a despatch received by the masters of the vessel here yesterday; the master at present is in prison.

The schooner left here 15 days ago, supposedly for the Campeche fishing banks and the first known of her seizure—evidently upon the charge of preying on Mexican fishing preserves—was the receipt of the despatch from the captain.

The vessel was formally a New York pilot boat.

THE PRESIDENT HARRY WHITNEY

Interested in Panama Canal Work

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 2.—After passing two days in and about Seattle, President Taft came to Tacoma last night and received from an audience that thronged the big armory one of the most cordial greetings of his trip. The president was entertained at dinner at the Union club, after making the trip from Seattle on board the yacht El Primero, owned by Chester Thorne. The torpedo boat destroyer Perry escorted the yacht.

Before leaving Seattle, the president paid a last visit to the exposition grounds to view the live stock exhibition, and from the judges' stand made a brief speech.

President Taft promised yesterday to attend another exposition to be held on the Pacific coast in 1915 in celebration of the completion of the Panama canal. Mr. Taft said the date was beyond his term of office, but that his interest in the Panama canal and in the extension of trade on the Pacific had been so great for so many years that he readily gave his promise to attend.

When the president left Tacoma at midnight, for the south, he had completed 5000 miles of his 12,000 mile journey. In matter of elapsed time, however, his journey was less than one-third completed.

During the time he has been on the road, the president has made eight speeches of first importance, clearly setting forth his views on questions of importance, and he announced last night that he had completed the list of set addresses. The president's outspoken opposition to self government for Alaska unquestionably caused considerable discussion in this region. The speech was widely discussed yesterday along with Mr. Taft's announcement that he would visit Alaska next year to see conditions. It is understood the president will make no specific recommendations to congress for legislation affecting the territory until after his visit.

GREAT BANQUET

Humphrey O'Sullivan Entertained Friends

Last Tuesday night at Shanley's famous restaurant in Broadway, New York, Humphrey O'Sullivan of this city banqueted about 50 of his friends, including men closely affiliated with Tammany and others prominent in the business and social life of the metropolis.

Thomas J. Enright, Esq., of this city was toastmaster, and the banquet was second to none ever held at Shanley's. J. Munn Andrews, Humphrey O'Sullivan's partner, was there, as were also James O'Sullivan and Jeremiah O'Sullivan, Esq.

The speechmaking was as brilliant as the banquet was elaborate. The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, of which Humphrey O'Sullivan is a member, were well represented, and among them were some very clever speakers. Needless to say, the voice of Tammany was heard, and eloquent were the remarks of the Tammany men. They extolled the host and complimented him on his business integrity. They said that Tammany had many men of the stamp of Humphrey O'Sullivan, fearless but honest and benevolent, and that Tammany was looking for more.

The speechmaking was interspersed ## with music, selections by an orchestra and singing. Mr. O'Sullivan was cheered to the echo when he arose to speak, as was the toastmaster's clever introduction of the Rubber Heel King.

Mr. O'Sullivan went back at the other speakers, and said that while he appreciated all that had been said, and that while he felt a great love for New York and her people, his heart was with the home city of the rubber heel, Lowell, Mass., the pride of the Merrimack valley.

"Big Tim" Sullivan is a great admirer of Humphrey O'Sullivan, and on Wednesday night, the night after Mr. O'Sullivan's banquet at Shanley's, the big banquet of the Hudson-Fulton carnival was held at the Astor house. Mr. O'Sullivan was short one ticket. He wanted it for a friend and he spoke to "Tim" Sullivan. "You might as well ask for gold at the North pole," said "Big Tim" "as to ask for a ticket for the banquet at the Astor, but I'm going to give you my ticket. I have almost tired of such functions and I'm glad to be able to accommodate you," and "Big Tim" passed his personal ticket to his friend Humphrey.
